TO HOLD INQUEST ON FLOOD DEATHS AT SANTA CLARA

Coroner Declares Someone Must Be To Blame for Southern California Water Horror.

ENGINEERS INSPECT SCENE OF DISASTER

Rumored That Large Leak in Structure Was Reported Weeks Ago Without Action.

BY GEORGE H. BEALE.
United News Staff Correspondent.

Los Angeles, March 14.—Prosecution of responsible persons will be undertaken if faulty construction of the St. Francis dam is established as the reason for the flood catastrophe in the Santa Clara river valley.

District Attorney Asa Keys, of Los Angeles county, made that assertion today after Coroner Frank A. Nance had charged that criminal negligence was involved in collapse of the big concrete water barrier and release of its billions of gallons of water upon slumbering cities and ranches Monday night.

"It is admitted that the dam was not anchored to hard rock," said Nance, in announcing that an inquest on the disaster deaths would be held next week. "One end was fastened to shale and the other to a conglomerate formation."

While a series of investigations was begun here, officials and engineers who cooperated in construction of the mammoth St. Francis dam maintained that there was no imperfections in its construction. These men will be called upon to testify at the coroner's inquest, Nance said.

Rested on Rock.

Stanley Dunham, construction engineer during the building of the dam, was reached at his home in Independence by the United News.

"Many engineers visited the dam while it was being built and we never heard any word of criticism," he said.

FORMER GEORGIA MAN LOSES LIFE IN DAM DISASTER

News of the death Tuesday morning in the St. Francis dam disaster in California of George A. Mann, 26, former resident of 408 East Mercer avenue, College Park, was received here Wednesday by relatives. No details of the disaster were contained in the message. It was stated by relatives that the body will be brought to Atlanta immediately and funeral arrangements announced later by A. C. Hemperly, East Point undertakers, who will be in charge.

Mr. Mann had been engaged in electrical work for several years and went to Los Angeles about a year ago.

Mr. Mann is survived by his father, J. A. Mann; three sisters, Mrs. Corrie Shackleford, of Atlanta; Mrs. L. H. Brown, of East Point, and Miss Florence Mann, of College Park, and two brothers, J. T. Mann, of Lynchburg, Va. and H. A. Mann, of College Park.

ARRAIGN STEWART TODAY ON SENATE CONTEMPT CHARGE

Washington, March 14.—(United News.)—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, will be arraigned here Thursday to answer to the recent indictment returned against him for refusing to answer questions of the senate Teapot Dome committee.

Stewart's counsel is expected to ask for 20 days time during which they may prepare his defense.

DAM DEATH TOLL NOW SET AT 264 AS HUNT GOES ON

Haggard Workers Delve in Gruesome Sand as Pitiless Sun Gazes in Brazen Sky.

Santa Paula, Cal., March 14.—(AP) Over a thousand men searched the sand-laden stretches of the Santa Clara river valley today and recovered only a few more bodies to add to the known toll of the St. Francis dam disaster—set tonight at 264.

Leaders of the search expressed little hope of easily finding the bodies of some 300 men, women and children still reported missing.

"We have done all we can, scratching the surface with pick and shovel," said an officer directing the search.

Surviving relatives and friends of the dead and absent, who crowded about the doorways of morgues, voiced a common thought—that they were giving up hope. They surveyed the muddy wastes of silt, which buried their home lands and probably their loved ones, under one to 30 feet of barren yellow sand. The haggard-faced and weary searchers declared that probably for many it was the final burial place.

The day's search of mud-covered, piled debris had brought in but two bodies at Fillmore and four at Newhall. One or two others were unofficially reported recovered in other areas.

A glaring sun all day burned pitilessly upon the bands of searchers and relief workers. It glared down into the torrent torn yellow gash, intensifying the lifelessness of the devastated, sand-strewn valley.

Toll of Flood.

The toll in life and property, estimated from official figures and the surveys of careful observers, stood as follows:

Two hundred and sixty-four lives lost.

St. Francis dam demolished.

Los Angeles municipal power house below dam demolished.

Five hundred homes destroyed or greatly damaged.

Twenty linear miles of citrus orchard land buried under many feet of mud and silt.

Ten important bridges destroyed.

State and county highways washed out at numerous points.

Telegraph and telephone lines disrupted over an area connecting half a dozen towns and a dozen smaller communities.

Fifteen hundred persons virtually homeless and many of these, temporarily at least, destitute.

Live stock killed and drowned, unestimated total.

The aggregate property loss cannot be determined at present. Officials declared today that it would require

APPEAL TO COURTS EXPECTED TODAY IN HOSPITAL FIGHT

Doctors Named by 1927 Committee Will Take No Action Until New Board Assumes Control.

With both factions firm in their claims to control of Grady hospital and the demand increasing for some move to put a permanent end to strife in the management of the institution and to bring about an era of peace, indications Wednesday night were that a crisis in its affairs would be reached today.

Two important steps in the fight were taken Wednesday, the first by Superintendent Steve Johnston on behalf of the new councilmanic committee on hospitals and charities and the other by the 1927 executive committee of the hospital.

Mr. Johnston issued verbal orders placing in effect instructions issued by the councilmanic body which deposed the present board of doctors in control and named new leaders for the medical control of the institution.

Will Await Action.

On the other hand the executive committee of the hospital, which assumed charge the first of this year after being elected by the 1927 councilmanic committee on hospitals and charities to serve until 1933, reached the decision that it still is the legal officeholder, and decided to take no action until the new board of doctors makes an attempt to assume control.

It is expected that the new committee of doctors will move to take over control this morning and that step, it is stated, will be followed immediately by appeal to the courts.

Attorneys for the executive committee named by the 1927 hospitals and charities committee have advised the members to refrain from any court action until they are displaced by the newly-appointed committee, and this procedure will be followed, it was said.

To the two suggestions for elimination of future staff fights at the institution—turning operation of the unit over to Emory university or to a board of trustees—a third was added Wednesday when it was proposed a graduate school be established in connection with the white unit and that it control operation of that division.

Remedy Is Urged.

Practically every doctor connected with the institution and other persons familiar with the periodic outbreaks in the staff declared that something must be done to prevent future clashes. While their proposals differed, all agreed that control of the institution should be removed from the supervision of the hospitals and charities committee of city council.

Mr. Johnston issued a statement Wednesday in which he pointed out he is not taking any part in the factional fight, but is attempting to carry out the orders of his superiors, the hospitals and charities committee.

He declared that he has been complimented "for the efficient service and fine spirit of cooperation" he has shown by members of the council committees for a number of years.

Vigorously opposing the suggestion that the medical control of Grady hospital be turned over to Emory univer-

Police Force Declares War On 'Mashers'

All Members of Department Will Join in New Crusade.

A war on "mashers," and especially on those who own automobiles, was declared by members of the police committee of city council at a meeting Wednesday night at police station. Every member of the police department will be instructed to keep a close lookout for all offenders.

Numerous complaints have been received recently that young men have been annoying pedestrians by riding by and blowing their horns in an effort to attract the attention of young women.

The committee adopted a resolution which provides that each motorcycle officer shall be furnished with a Sam Brown outfit and a leather pistol holster to match.

S. C. Wallace, a member of the police department, was tried on a charge of "shooting the tires" of an automobile and suspended for 29 days. It was testified that the officer thought he was shooting at the tires of a car that had forced the police auto onto the sidewalk and by mistake made a target of the wrong machine.

Minister's Name Linked In Mississippi Wedding

:: LICENSE ISSUED IN REV. YOUNG'S NAME ::

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Meridian, Miss., March 14.—A man who gave his name as the Rev. Herbert D. Young, his age as 42 and described himself as the former pastor of the Central Baptist church, of Waycross, Ga., was issued a marriage license here on March 3, Roy Rush, circuit court clerk, stated Wednesday night.

The license, Rush said, asserted that he was to marry Mrs. E. P. Walker, of New York state, formerly of Covington, Ky., and listed Atlanta, Ga., as the minister's former home and Meridian as his present residence.

Court attaches said the couple left in an automobile for an unannounced destination after having been married by the Rev. C. C. Jones, pastor of the Poplar Springs Baptist church, of this city.

(The Rev. Herbert D. Young, 42, pastor of the Central Baptist church, of Waycross, Ga., left his home in that city on March 1 to attend a Bible conference in Atlanta. He arrived in Atlanta and registered at the Y. M. C. A. but dropped out of sight the following day and efforts of his family since then to trace him have proven fruitless.)

MRS. YOUNG IS ASTONISHED.

Waycross, Ga., March 14.—(AP)—Membership of the Central Baptist church, of Waycross, tonight voted confidence in their pastor, the Rev. Herbert D. Young, who has been missing since March 1, and simultaneously announced a reward of $150 leading to information of his whereabouts.

The wife of the 42-year-old minister tonight received from the Associated Press the report that a man giving the name of her husband and his age, had married a Mrs. Walker in Meridian, Miss., on March 3, with astonishment. She expressed emphatic conviction that the man was not her husband.

She said that a Mrs. Eva Walker had left Waycross two days before her husband departed for Atlanta, but that she had heard that Mrs. Walker was to return to Waycross tomorrow.

The Rev. Mr. Young was given leave of absence by his congregation to attend the Georgia Baptist conference in Atlanta, but officials of that conference notified the local church that he had not registered for any of the conference sessions.

Mrs. Young instituted immediate search in the belief that her husband had suffered a recurrence of a nervous disorder which had bothered the pastor recently. Her inquiry in Atlanta gleaned that the minister had not visited a specialist there as he had intended to do, and further that he had registered in the Y. M. C. A., there and left within a few hours, either on March 1 or 2.

No further definite clues have been

PROPOSES FEDERAL CONTROL FOR COAL

Railroad Executive Approves Plan for Commission Supervision Over Production and Sales.

Washington, March 14.— (AP) — Widely divergent aspects of the unsettled situation in the Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio coal fields occupied the senate investigating committee today, with Ohio operators, a railroad purchasing agent and a self-styled "human engineer" following varied courses in their testimony.

Frank Mallot, treasurer of the Shick Coal company and president of the First National Bank of Bellaire, Ohio, testified that the Baltimore and Ohio railroad had ceased purchasing coal from his concern when he announced that union miners would not be repudiated.

This happened, he said, after a "Mr. Dyson," purchasing agent for the Baltimore and Ohio, had inquired by telephone whether the Shick Coal company was going to continue on a union basis.

"I told him we would continue," said Mallot, "and he said he did not think they would be interested in buying more coal, but he would leave it up to the proper authorities."

Thomas K. Maher, Cleveland, Ohio, president of the Maher Collieries company, entered statistics which showed a decline in prices paid by railroads to his five mines for coal between 1919 and 1927. He denied blaming the railroads for depressing prices in the past, and having used that as an argument for reduction of miners' wages.

"We usually got better treatment from the railroads than from others," he said.

Creation of a federal commission to supervise the production and marketing of the nation's coal, as has been tentatively proposed by Senator Gooding, republican, Idaho, was indorsed as "practicable" by W. C. Bower, manager of purchases and stores for the New York Central railroad. This plan was discussed briefly by Bower

TAXPAYERS' RIGHT TO WALK STREETS UPHELD BY JUDGE

A property owner and taxpayer of Atlanta has a right to walk the sidewalks for which he helped to pay, Acting Recorder W. E. Saunders decided Wednesday in dismissing idling and loitering charges against T. C. Howell, 70, of 252 Walker street.

Mr. Howell, who was arrested by Officers Palmer and Wooster, appeared in court with Chief of Police James L. Beavers as his chief character witness, Chief Beavers testifying that he had known Mr. Howell for some 35 or 40 years, and that his reputation was good. Mr. Howell told the acting recorder that he is unable to obtain work because of an injury to his leg and because of his age, but that he has property on which he paid the city $300 taxes last year.

BANDIT PAIR ROBS DRUGGIST OF $200

White Men Hold Up Manager of Highland Avenue Store and Rifle Cash Registers.

Two white hold-up men Wednesday night entered the Horne Drug store, at 1395 Highland avenue, and holding C. R. Fincher, manager, at the point of a pistol, rifled two cash registers of the day's receipts, estimated at from $150 to $200, according to police reports.

Fincher said the two men entered the store and asked for a package of razor blades and that when he turned to get them, a pistol was drawn on him and the cash registers rifled. Call Officers Ginn and McGarrity investigated.

Boarding a street car at Five Points Wednesday night, F. W. Hadley, of 885 Gordon street, S. W., was the victim of a pickpocket to the extent of $25, he told police.

Slays Doctor Who Helped Amputate Leg

Youth Confesses to Police After He Is Caught in Theater.

Scranton, Pa., March 14.—(AP)—Three hours after he had shot and killed Dr. Gerald A. Kelly in his offices in Jessup, Joseph Kameniskey, Jr., 20, also of Jessup, was arrested in a theater here today. Kameniskey attempted to draw two pistols from his pockets but was overpowered by the officers.

Hustled to police headquarters, Kameniskey was turned over to Sheriff G. C. Davis, to whom he confessed that he killed the physician because he participated in an operation three years ago that resulted in amputation of his right leg below the knee. He has since used an artificial leg. Kamenisky was arraigned on a charge of murder and held without bail.

Dr. Kelly had returned to his office with another patient to find Kameniskey asleep on a couch in his inner office. Asking his other patient to wait while he saw the young man, the physician entered his room, awakened Kameniskey and then closed the door. Less than a minute later three shots rang out.

Dr. Kelly's wife, who was on the second floor of their home, was the first to reach his side just as the slayer made his escape through a rear door. The physician died a minute later, one bullet having penetrated the heart.

Kameniskey took a street car for Scranton and upon his arrival here went to the theater. A Jessup man recognized the youth as he entered the theater and summoned a policeman.

RADIO COMMISSION TO CONTINUE WORK DESPITE CONGRESS

Secretary Hoover Announces Body Will Still Function Even If New Bill Is Delayed.

Washington, March 14.—(United News.)—The federal radio commission will continue to function under the direction of Secretary of Commerce Hoover until action by congress to extend the commission's life another year, Hoover announced today following a conference with President Coolidge.

Hoover said he believed congress will act soon to lengthen the commission's life, and that he does not wish to disrupt its activities meantime.

In this connection, the commerce secretary indicated he would permit the commission to operate as it has been doing, even if the radio bill, extending its life, is not passed by congress in time for the president's signature by Thursday night, when the commission's authority expires.

The bill continuing the commission as an independent body is now before senate and house conferees, who are endeavoring to adjust differences over the house amendment for rezoning of broadcasting districts according to population.

Any decision reached by the conference must be approved by the senate and house before the bill can be sent to Mr. Coolidge for signature.

The commission announced, meanwhile, that radio broadcasting stations granted permits for increased power have been advised to delay construction until congress takes final action on the equal distribution amendment to the radio bill.

QUITS TARIFF BODY, SCORES COOLIDGE

Costigan Resigning, Charges Coolidge Appointees Do Not Sincerely Desire Reductions.

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—The controversy that for more than two years has surrounded the activities of the tariff commission moved to a sharp and sudden climax today with the resignation of Commissioner Edward P. Costigan, last of the original Wilson appointees.

In a letter filled with frank personalities, Costigan simultaneously assailed President Coolidge and Commissioners Marvin, Lowell and Brossard. At the white house, it was announced that the resignation had been accepted.

Costigan charged Mr. Coolidge with a refusal to act on decisive evidence that certain tariff rates should be lowered. The president's course, he said, had "helped to wreck the commission's usefulness."

Terming the three commissioners "The Marvin Group," Costigan asserted that they had worked steadily for higher rates and against important reductions, "reckless on occasions in their treatment of facts and law."

Costigan's charges were contained in a letter addressed to Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic floor leader, chairman of the senate committee appointed two years ago to investigate the tariff commission.

Mr. Costigan declared that the "manipulation of the commission since 1922 is but part of the total picture of present day Washington," contained "in an era which history may yet summarize as the age of Daugherty, Fall and Sinclair."

Chairman Marvin he described as a "tireless and fanatical protectionist, known in Washington as a tariff lobbyist for New England protected interests."

"No exposures, however discrediting, of bias, partisanship and the distrust of his associates, have suffered to break this New England slate," the letter added, asserting that "it is well known in Washington that President Coolidge has long ceased personally to consult or place confidence in his own designated tariff commission chairman."

Referring to the senate committee's failure to report on its investigation Costigan said that his hope that "congress would not fail at this session to grapple with corrective remedies, is extinguished at last.

"Instead," the letter said, "congress has once more voted the commission's annual appropriation. Agriculture is making proper demands for national relief, and it is easier to use the commission to convert farmers to a mistaken belief in tariff salvation than to apply real and permanent agricultural remedies."

VINSON BOMBARDS COTTON WITNESS ON COST JUGGLING

Georgian Charges Trading Firm Manipulations Brought Lower Prices to Producers.

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—A three-day appearance before the senate committee investigating cotton prices by William L. Clayton, head of the Houston, Texas, cotton trading firm which is accused of market manipulation to bring about the 1927 price crash, wound up today in a two-hour bombardment with the witness by Representative Vinson, of Georgia.

The Georgia member shares with Representative Rankin, of Mississippi, under committee sanction, the office of prosecutor of the manipulation charges. The five senators composing the committee were more or less in the attitude of jurymen, except for an occasional question by Heflin, of Alabama, or Smith, of South Carolina, the chairman or an interjection by Ransdell, of Louisiana, demanding that Clayton be permitted to complete an answer.

To heighten the already unusual aspect of a senate committee investigation with cross-questioning conducted largely by house members, Clayton is to face across the table, possibly tomorrow, his chief assailant and sponsor of the market rigging charges, Arthur R. Marsh, former head of the New York cotton exchange.

Marsh is to make a preliminary exposition of his case against the Houston company and other firms. He and Clayton then will be given liberty to cross-examine each other with the aid of the lawyers with which each is backed up. Again the committee proposes to sit as a jury, interested in the long-standing controversy between the rival cotton marketing experts only so far as it bears on what happened to overturn cotton prices in 1927. Matters extraneous to that industry, Senator Smith warned them today, would be ruled out.

Prepared Questions.

Vinson, like Rankin, who preceded him in questioning the Houston cotton factor, hammered away on the theory that transactions of the firm in spot and future cotton, admittedly the largest dealings of record over several sessions, operated to beat down the price received by cotton growers for their product. He had before him a carefully prepared series of questions, nearly all of them long and involved with qualifying clauses, which he read to the witness. Clayton insisted on answering only with similar qualifying explanations of his own, for the most part, refusing to be tied down to direct yes or no answers. Vinson frequently sought to cut him off in these explanatory interpolations, and tilts

NEW REGULATIONS FOR MOTOR BUSSES EFFECTIVE APRIL 1

Regulations covering the operation of motor busses in Georgia as common carriers will be prepared by the state public service commission along lines discussed at a conference held Wednesday by the commission with leading operators of such lines, it was announced by James A. Perry, chairman of the commission. It is probable that the new regulations will be placed in effect April 1, according to Mr. Perry.

More than 50 representatives of railroads and bus lines attended the conference held Wednesday and offered suggestions relating to the operation of these lines as common carriers. These suggestions were in connection with the establishment and maintenance of regular schedules, the establishment of rates, the maintenance of rolling stock and the protection of passengers.

After the conference the commission asked the operators to submit suggestions to assist the commission in framing a graduated scale of insurance coverage which will be required of the lines.

REPORTED DRONE OF PLANE MOTOR BUT FALSE CLUE

Captain Sinclair, in London, Tells of Waving Farewell to Hinchliffe and Miss Mackay.

ALL NIGHT WATCH AT LANDING FIELDS

New York, Philadelphia and Washington Keep Forlorn Vigil; Many Report Hearing Plane.

NEWARK, N. J., March 14.—(AP)—Detachment of state police left this morning for the town of Menlo Park, to investigate a report that the Hinchliffe plane had landed there.

New York, March 15.—(United News.)—The "zero hour" of the Hinchliffe-Mackay flight from England passed at 12:45 a. m. today without sign of the plane in which the Honorable Miss Elsie Mackay and Captain Walter G. R. Hinchliffe essayed to cross the Atlantic.

It was estimated that at the outside the fuel supply of the plane could last 45 hours. The plane took off from England at 3:45 a. m., eastern standard time, on Tuesday. Forty-five hours expired at 12:45 a. m. today.

At that hour despite the almost vanished chance of success, there was still a crowd of nearly 1,000 people waiting at Mitchell field, New York, where searchlights and flares were burning.

At Philadelphia, another possible terminus of the flight, no arrangements for a landing had been made but conditions were such that the field could be lighted at any moment and a watch was maintained.

The night was damp with rain at some points but not at the New York or Philadelphia flying fields.

Major John N. Reynolds, commandant of the field, remained on watch, ready to greet the fliers should they arrive.

By 1 a. m. about 500 people were left out of the 5,000 who had been there three hours before. The others had given up hope and left. Those who remained followed the beams of two powerful searchlights which continuously swept the sky in search for an arriving plane.

Of the crowd still at the field during the first hour of the morning some 20 were handsomely gowned women who had come out with escorts after attending theaters.

A sandwich man did a rushing business.

PASSAGE OF NAVY BILL IS EXPECTED

BY ALFRED P. RECK,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Marc.. 14.—(United News.)—The house naval construction bill, which ignored the administration's proposal for a big navy, seems assured of passage when it comes up for final action on Friday. A substantial majority is indicated.

The bill provides for 15 new light cruisers and one aircraft carrier at a total cost of $274,000,000. Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, with the approval of President Coolidge, asked him for 25 cruisers, five airplane carriers, 32 submarines and nine destroyer leaders, totaling approximately $725,000,000.

Only two men, Representative McClintic, Oklahoma democrat, and Representative La Guardia, New York republican, are making a determined fight against the bill. La Guardia's protest is based on cost, and McClintic's wants to substitute submarines for cruisers.

Even with the addition of 15 cruisers, the United States will be vastly inferior to Great Britain and on a par with Japan.

At the present time, the United States has 18 modern cruisers built, building or appropriated for; Great Britain has 63.

With the one additional aircraft carrier, the United States would have four, Great Britain seven and Japan three.

As destroyer leaders, nine of which were recommended by Secretary Wilbur, were eliminated from the bill, the United States will have no ships of this class, while Great Britain has 18 and Japan is building four.

As to submarines, the United States leads in first line underwater craft with 50, compared to Britain's 32 and Japan's 45. However, in fleet submarines, exceeding 1,000 tons and with a 20-knot speed, the United States drops below both Japan and Great Britain. This country has nine built or building, Britain has 13 and Japan 23.

GREAT SMOKY PARK SURVEYORS SPEED UP

Asheville, N. C., March 14.—(AP)—Field forces surveying the Great Smoky mountain national park area will be doubled to speed up the work, it was announced today by Senator Plato Ebbs, treasurer of the North Carolina park commission.

The decision was reached today at a meeting of the executive committee of the commission.

The survey was suspended last December because of weather conditions but will be resumed tomorrow, it was announced.

Among those attending the executive meeting today were Representative Mark Squires, of Lenoir, chairman of the commission; Senator Ebbs, James A. Hardison, Wadesboro, executive committeeman; Judge L. R. Varsar, Lumberton, counsel for the commission; W. N. Sloan, Franklin, chief engineer in charge of the survey, and Verne Rhoades, executive secretary of the commission and forestry expert of Asheville.

The session today was devoted principally to legal matters involved in the acquisition of 428,000 acres that will make up the original park area. The aim of the session was to formulate a definite program to begin work at once and proceed with the establishment of the park without delay.

The North Carolina park commission is ready at this moment to buy lands for the Great Smoky mountain national park where the area has been surveyed and a price can be agreed upon, Representative Mark Squires, chairman, announced today at the close of an executive committee meeting.

The announcement followed the statement of Senator Plato D. Ebbs, treasurer of the commission, that the forces engaged in the survey work would be doubled to speed the completion of the work.

Life for Price, 1 Year for Sikes, Is Court's Edict

Lawrenceville, Ga., March 14.—(Special.)—LeGrand Sikes, indicted Wednesday morning as an accessory in the murder last December of James Bennefield and his 9-year-old son, John, pleaded guilty in superior court here in the afternoon and was sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary.

The grand jury returned indictments in both deaths, charging Sikes with being an accessory after the fact. In court the defendant pleaded guilty, telling Judge W. W. Starr that he would have told of the crime before he was arrested but for the threat made against him by Sam Gower, who Tuesday was sentenced to death following his conviction of the murders.

Joe Price, son-in-law of Gower, Wednesday morning formally was sentenced to serve the remainder of his life in prison, having been found guilty by a jury shortly after Gower was convicted Tuesday afternoon.

The jury considered the case of Gower barely half an hour Tuesday before returning a verdict of guilty without recommendation. Mercy was included in the jury's verdict in the case of Price.

Judge Starr determined that the one-year sentences, one on each indictment, were to be served concurrently by Sikes, which makes the maximum penalty one year on the accessory charge.

The case of the three men was one of the most promptly disposed of in court annals of Gwinnett county. The elder Bennefield and his small son were beaten with a hammer and cut to death by Gower and Price on the night of December 16, according to Sikes' testimony. Price, in his testimony, declared that it was Sikes and not he who cut the victim's throats after Gower beat the two into insensibility. Robbery was the motive, it was testified.

SMALL RUM CASE FINES EXPLAINED BY FEDERAL JUDGE

Judge Sibley said that he wanted it clearly understood that when he imposed a fine of from $5 to $25 on offenders, it was because the defendants had been sentenced in other courts for the same violation.

The Thomas' "GROW" because they Grow Hair

You, too, can have a healthy head of hair

Over fifteen years ago P. A. Thomas, Ph. D., began active hair and scalp work in one lonely little office in Chicago. Today the Thomas' are the only hair and scalp specialists in the world with a chain of offices extending from coast to coast and into Canada.

The Thomas' treat over 1,500 persons daily in their forty-one offices for dandruff, falling hair, itching scalp and all other scalp disorders—and they successfully treat them.

Such facts prove that The Thomas' are a reliable national institution, and their method is fundamental, scientifically sound, and proven. Their method of treatment is far removed from the experimental stage. New hair is visible on scalp generally within three to six weeks. Thousands of men in all walks of life who were at one time bald, or rapidly losing their hair, now have healthy heads of hair as a result of Thomas' treatment. You can afford to let only a skilled Thomas specialist work on your scalp, for the Thomas' alone are thoroughly sound in their original method of treatment. No charge or obligation for a scalp examination.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—(adv.)

Special displays of the newest spring styles and special bargains in practically all of the leading stores in the city.

They are planning to put on bargain sales which in themselves will attract hundreds of visitors to the city.

Charles Howard Candler, treasurer of the Music Festival association, is receiving at his office, 84 North Broad street, reservations from all parts of the south for opera this year. Virtually half the auditorium has been set aside for out-of-town patrons. Reservations are being received daily and are being filled in the order of their receipt.

GEORGIA REVENUE BUREAU PRAISED BY STATE AUDITOR

The state department of revenue, under John M. Vandiver, state revenue commissioner, is operating "on a highly efficient basis" and collected more delinquent taxes in 1927 than during the previous year, according to a report of an audit filed Wednesday with Governor L. G. Hardman by Sam J. Slate, state auditor.

Collections and penalties from delinquent taxes handled during 1927 by the department totaled $250,981.44, a substantial increase over such revenue for 1926, when $227,332.02 was recorded.

The motor vehicle license tax furnished $130,336.63, the audit showed, the remaining $88,291.56 being derived from delinquent payments on occupational taxes. In collecting these amounts, the state was shown to have spent $47,919.03 during the year, $2,427.53 of this amount being commissions retained by tax collectors, the remainder representing departmental expenses.

Sales of tax stamps brought the state $877,220.96 for 1927, as compared with $761,207.79 for the year before, the audit showed. Work of handling the stamps cost the state $53,544.37, it was revealed, $836,035.76 going into the treasury.

POSTMASTER NEW ORDERED TO COURT ON "PROTEST" MAIL

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Postmaster General Harry S. New and Postmaster John J. Kiely, of New York, were ordered today by Federal Judge John C. Knox to show cause why they should not be restrained from interfering with mail matter bearing stamps protesting against "marine rule" in Nicaragua. The order is returnable Tuesday.

Application for the order was made by Arthur Garfield Hays, counsel for Manuel Gomez, of the All-American Anti-Imperialist league, because Postmaster Kiely had returned mail bearing stickers with the inscription, "Protest against marine rule in Nicaragua." The stickers had been sold by the league to aid the cause of General Augustino Sandino, Nicaraguan leader, who has clashed with American marines.

EDGAR PRICE TO DIE FOR BOUIE KILLING; DENIED NEW TRIAL

Edgar Price, convicted on a murder charge in Grady county in 1927 and sentenced to be executed, lost his fight for a new trial in the supreme court Wednesday when that body handed down a decision denying the petition. Price was convicted of killing Buster Bouie on Christmas day, 1926.

Price, found guilty on March 10, 1927, and sentenced to die in the electric chair on April 1 of that year, was granted delays in order that his attorneys might take the case to the highest court. New trial was asked on the ground that the trial court should not have admitted in evidence testimony as to the conduct and sayings of the defendant following the deed.

Price also was charged with the murder of Jim Butler, the state alleging that he shot Bouie and Butler with a shotgun during an altercation following an argument over Price charging Bouie $1 to pull his automobile out of a ditch.

The case goes back to Grady county superior court for resentencing.

The Right Way to Relieve Headache

Why shock your system with harsh laxatives and purgatives when it is most likely that your headache comes from a congested condition of the blood which can be corrected by this simple, harmless remedy?

Years ago, Dr. T. M. Stanback discovered that the majority of people want something to relieve headache quickly, without any bad after effects. So he developed this prescription which has been used by so many throughout the South that it has been called "The South's Standard Remedy." Physicians and dentists use it in their practice to relieve all kinds of pain—neuralgia, backache, toothache, and to check colds and "flu."

You'll be simply amazed at the speedy relief you'll get with Stanback Headache Powders. At the very first sign of headache or pain of any kind, go to your druggist. He'll recommend Stanback—and you will, too, after the first trial.

RAIL LABOR ACT HIT AS TOOTHLESS

Houston, Texas, March 14.—(AP)—A challenge against the constitutionality of the railroad labor act of 1926 was made today by counsel for the Southern Pacific lines in Texas and Louisiana who characterized the measure as a "meaningless bill without teeth in it" and one which congress never intended the courts to enforce.

The attack was delivered by C. R. Wharton, attorney for the carrier, in the course of a hearing in federal court to dismiss a petition on which three officials of the railroad were found guilty of contempt of court.

The officials were accused of hampering operation of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, by the fostering of the Association of Clerical Employees, a so-called company union, to represent more than 1,000 clerks in labor disputes. A court order to disestablish the company union was not obeyed, the brotherhood charged, and the contempt order followed.

Hoover Favorite of Majority Of Republicans in Congress

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

Washington, March 14.—The ecstatic delight of the lower house of congress over the humiliation of a farm spokesman, Brand, of Ohio, in his debate with Congressman Burton, of the same state, about Hoover, was much more than merely a measure of Hoover's strength with the members of the lower house. It was due partly to the uncovering in a farm leader of a course for which inconsistency would be a mild term. Many members of the lower house have felt that they have had the same sort of experience at the hands of some McNary-Haugen advocates as Hoover. There are members who are as sincerely anxious for some kind of farm relief as anybody could possibly be, but who, with equal sincerity, think the McNary-Haugen bill is not the right remedy. These members have felt themselves subjected to what they would not hesitate to call a kind of blackmailing persecution, in a political sense.

They have been represented as enemies of the farmer merely because they are opposed to this particular form of relief. They have felt also that the whole farm question is being used by some, though not by all, of the McNary-Haughen leaders as a means of political advantage, either in the interest of some candidates for the presidency, or in the interest of local candidates for the senate and congress. Consequently, congressmen feeling that had been the subject of persecution were delighted to see a spokesman of the McNary-Haugen cause revealed as guilty of what might be called mildly a lack of continuous convictions.

"Terrorism" Lessens.

Congressman Brand was denouncing Secretary Hoover as an enemy of the farmer in the present presidential race, and was exposed as having written, only three years ago, two letters extravagantly lauding Hoover as the ideal exponent of the farmers' cause, and as the best possible person to fill the office of secretary of agriculture when it was made vacant by the death of Secretary Wallace.

Many congressmen feel that this incident will clarify the atmosphere in the lower house with respect to farm relief and will have an effect on the course of the renewed McNary-Haugen bill now pending. On the repeated occasions when the McNary-Haugen bill has been up for action during the past three years a considerable number of congressmen have been so subjected to what they regarded as terrorism that they changed their votes and sacrificed their known convictions against the McNary-Haugen bill in order to vote for it. This sort of pressure, they think, will be lessened by this week's incident. With regard to the attitude of the members of the lower house about Hoover as a candidate for the republican presidential nomination, it is felt that just about half the republican members favor him.

As respects Willis, of Ohio, the number of congressmen favoring him is limited to his own state, and decidedly does not include all those. Some of the republican congressmen from Ohio are strongly opposed to Willis, and others refrain from opposing him only because of local expediency within the state.

Hoover Is Favorite.

Watson, of Indiana, is another candidate for the republican presidential nomination whose support within congress is confined to those from his own state. It is probably safe to say that no congressman outside of Ohio supports Willis and that none of them think of him as a serious contender. The same could be said, probably, about the candidacy of Watson, of Indiana.

As to Curtis, of Kansas, his support in the lower house is almost confined to the members of his own state, though he has also some supporters from adjoining states, such as Oklahoma.

A quite considerable number of congressmen from the farm territory support Lowden, chiefly because Lowden is the leader and symbol of the farmers' cause. Such remaining congressmen as are not already in favor of Hoover openly are for the most part following a policy of not taking any position until the campaign develops further.

A safe estimate would say that the number of congressmen who definitely favor Hoover is more than equal to the number supporting all the other candidates combined, including the silent candidate, Dawes. As to the number of members who took delight in the discomfiture of Brand, and rose to give an ovation to Hoover's champion, Burton, that was practically the entire house, including the democrats.

INCUMBENTS LOSE OUT IN STEWART RUNOVER

Lumpkin, Ga., March 14.—(Special.)—Incumbents suffered in the runover primary held here Wednesday for several offices, chief among which was the sheriff's race, in which S. W. Worthington defeated the incumbent, Walter K. Johnson.

In the closely contested runover for commissioner of roads and revenues—an office created by the last general assembly—Charles M. Davis defeated J. M. Deason. All results were based on an unofficial count. The voting was strong for a runover election, 1,234 votes being cast.

Humorist Rogers To Philosophize Here March 22

Atlantans who are looking forward to hearing the laconic philosophy of Will Rogers upon his third visit to this city on Thursday night, March 22, are advised that it will be necessary for those holding season tickets to the artist series to exchange the Will Rogers' seat coupons specifying the auditorium for those calling for the Erlanger theater.

Due to the impossibility of obtaining the auditorium for Rogers' appearance, it has been necessary to arrange for his lecture to be held in the Erlanger theater, it was announced, and those holding seat coupons for the entire artist series, which included the Rogers talk, should exchange them at the Cable Piano company Friday and Saturday of this week.

Exchanges will be made, it was stated, with as much respect for corresponding seat locations obtained by the ticket-holder for the auditorium as is possible. For instance, ground floor seats stipulating the auditorium will be exchanged for similar ground floor seats in the theater, while dress circle auditorium coupons will be exchanged for theater balcony seats, and gallery seats will remain for gallery couponholders. It will be absolutely necessary, however, it was announced, that these exchanges be made this week, during the opening hours of the Cable Piano company.

In advance of the third coming of the outstanding humorist, word has preceded Rogers from his home in Berkeley Hills, Calif., where Will is mayor, that tends to answer that oft-repeated question: Is a comedian funny in the eyes of his wife?

"Is Will funny at home?" Mrs. Rogers is quoted as repeating. "Of course he is. Will can't help being funny, no matter where he happens to be. He is funny at home, but first of all he is just himself. He doesn't try to be funny, and he isn't a wisecracker. He just has a natural sense of humor."

When the roper, who has been nominated for the title of "poet-lariat of America," has been away from home on a long tour, according to Mrs. Rogers, everyone in his community looks forward to a lot of fun on his return.

Mrs. Rogers also says Will can stand a joke on himself. "I don't think," she added, "that a professional humorist and comedian is much funnier at home than the ordinary man, but Will is just himself—a regular husband and a father, and we in turn do not demand that he be funny all the time."

WILL HOLD CLARKE PRIMARY ON FRIDAY

Athens, Ga., March 14.—Clarke county's primary election will be held Friday with three offices being contested.

Sheriff Walter E. Jackson is opposed by Louis M. Johnson, now a county bailiff; J. H. Dorsey, tax receiver, is opposed by Wallace Bell and A. M. Burch, tax collector, is opposed by Harry H. Elder. Clerk of Court Elmer J. Crawford, Ordinary R. C. Orr, Tensurer E. I. Smith, County School Superintendent T. N. Gaines and Coroner J. F. Shepherd are unopposed.

About 2,500 voters are registered and a large vote is predicted.

The election will be held under the Australian ballot system which is the law in this county.

School Mates Mourn Victims Of Gas Blast

Eastman, Ga., March 14.—(Special.)—Shaw Pinnell, who was seriously burned in the fire which destroyed the pressing club of Dennis brothers on Monday night, died Wednesday, the third victim of the accident when an explosion of gasoline caused by a lighted match trapped the young men who were in the rear of the club, forcing them to flee through the flames.

The funerals of Olin Dennis and Ernest Fish were held this afternoon. Young Pinnell's funeral will be held Thursday afternoon from the First Baptist church.

Eastman High school has been closed as a mark of respect to the dead students, Olin Dennis having been one of the most popular students as well as their star football player. Shaw Pinnell was graduated from the school in June and also was popular with the student body and football fans, having won a handsome gold watch for being the best all-round athlete. The other five boys who were burned are reported as being on the road to recovery.

The mother of Olin Dennis has collapsed and is dangerously ill, this having been the second child of hers that was burned to death and another child was gored to death by a mad cow a few year sago. Another peculiar coincident is the fact that five of the young men burned were the youngest children of their parents.

High Blood Pressure Due to Constipation and Biliousness

High blood pressure is both functional and organic, often produced by over-eating or mental strain, while constipation and biliousness are underlying causes. In either case, Alertox, through a process of elimination, thoroughly cleanses the system of its impurities and tends to reduce pressure in the veins and arteries by carrying out, through the intestinal tract, excess water in the system which the sweat glands have failed to secrete.

After the first dose or two of Alertox you note a decided improvement in reduced blood pressure, also in your general health, because Alertox removes, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vivacious and alert. Ask any one who has tried it. At all druggists or sent direct upon receipt of price, 60¢ and $1.00. Crystal Carbonic Laboratory, Dept. 35, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

A Few of America's Bell-wethers, who have chosen Atlanta during the Forward Atlanta Years

Pullman Company has invested two million dollars in great repair shops to serve the passenger traffic that moves through Atlanta in all directions.

National Biscuit spent two and a half million on a bakery to serve the Southeast with fresh crackers and other products.

Cluett, Peabody, the famous makers of Arrow collars, shirts and other products, placed here during the past year their first branch plant in the United States.

General Motors' first Southern plant is now building in Atlanta, an investment of $2,250,000.

Oak Knitting has invested a million dollars in Atlanta, to make better goods for the money, and to take advantage of the conditions here, of which they learned through Forward Atlanta.

These are just a few of the great companies that have been influenced to consider and study Atlanta, and have finally moved here, invested heavily here, because their studies bore out the facts they read in Atlanta's great campaign of advertising.

What have we Gained from our Investment in Forward ATLANTA?

PUT together Griffin and Marietta, set them down in the midst of Atlanta—and you have a picture of what two years of Forward Atlanta have done for this city.

9,158 new jobs have been created. 9,158 people and their families have been given $14,919,350 a year to spend in Atlanta, to buy homes, clothes, food, motor-cars—in Atlanta. 9,158 people—and their families, are busy and happy and contented who might not be had you not invested in Forward Atlanta two years ago, and last year.

$14,919,350 of new money is circulating in Atlanta. And that money will circulate every year from now on. It will grow, as the concerns grow whose payrolls are represented in that sum—the concerns whose executives chose Atlanta largely because of the facts presented to them in compelling fashion by your Forward Atlanta advertising.

More than eight percent of those gainfully employed in Atlanta today are employed by the 309 out-of-town concerns that have chosen this city during the past two years, the Forward Atlanta years. And the jobs they hold, the salaries and wages they draw represent increased income for these 9,158 people and their families.

You cannot drop fifteen million dollars into circulation in a city the size of Atlanta without increasing the prosperity of every citizen. Everybody shares. No matter what your place in life, the increased opportunity for profit increases your personal income by so much. So two years of Forward Atlanta have benefited all Atlanta permanently.

Permanently! Not just a temporary gain. Not a present gain at the expense of the future. Permanent, ever-growing gain that permeates Atlanta's entire social structure and contributes to the future enrichment of every Atlantan.

Nor can the results of the past two years be attributed, by any stretch of the imagination, to any "natural growth." The progress of Atlanta, charted, shows slow growth back through the years. But the Forward Atlanta years show tremendous growth, sudden growth that can be credited to nothing else but the power of a strong story, well told in the right quarters.

The third year of Forward Atlanta has begun. Every citizen will agree that a movement so profitable, so resultful, must be carried on. And every citizen will be proud to share in such accomplishment as awaits us in the years to come.

Those who have shared in the Forward Atlanta movement will want to continue their investments. Others, who found it impossible to share in the past, will want to invest this year. The opportunity is here today for you to join the ranks of those who are building Atlanta.

THIS SQUABBLE MUST STOP!

The squabble over the management of the Grady hospital between factional groups of Atlanta physicians cannot be justified.

It is a reflection upon a great and honored profession.

It impairs the usefulness of an essential institution which belongs to the city, the administration of which is in the interest of the health and welfare of its citizens.

All differences should be composed. The people demand it, and they have that right.

The negro ward of the institution is entirely free from politics.

Its government is efficient and free from controversy.

It is in direct charge of Wesley Memorial hospital, which is an Emory university unit.

The entire hospital plant should be accordingly administered, and the Emory hospital is in position to do it.

Then why not?

The situation as it stands today is a reflection upon the city.

No branch of city government is more important than charity hospitalization.

It is a crying shame that such an institution as Grady is in the mess that it is.

It should be saved. And the elimination of petty personal politics is the only solution.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

It is gratifying that the new secretary of state, George H. Carswell, has started off the administration of that important office in such a business-like manner.

There is no department of state government more important.

It incorporates the issuance of all motor car licenses, and the collection of several millions of dollars for the same.

It embraces the control of security authorizations.

It means a great deal more than the custodianship of the Great Seal, and the signing, with the governor, of executive documents.

In its wide range of activities the office must be administered by wise business methods, and Secretary Carswell is applying them.

He is well known as a business man as well as a lawyer, and legislator.

As banker, farmer, and industrialist, his experience is wide, and stands him in good in his new obligations.

Governor Hardman made a good appointment, and the people of Georgia will be pleased with the conduct of the department.

SHAMEFUL NEGLECT.

A recent issue of the Royston Record contained the following item:

"Five automobile wrecks occurred at the dangerous bridges seven miles from Royston on the Bankhead highway, in the past six days, some of them being very serious."

It is difficult to explain the neglect of the Bankhead highway by the state board.

It is particularly inexplicable as to the dangerous bridges across the Savannah and tributaries in the northeastern section of the state.

Scores of meetings have been held in Athens, Hartwell and Royston.

Several hearings have been conducted by the state highway board.

Promises have been made. And yet the situation does not improve nor is there any relief in sight.

This is one of the most important interstate highways in the country. It extends from Washington to the Pacific coast. It is paved in every state except in Georgia. In this state the link is little short of a disgrace.

Georgia has made good progress in bridge building except on this link of highway. In the meantime there are no more dangerous bridges in the state.

Will not the state board give some attention to this road and to these bridges?

INEXCUSABLE SILENCE.

Secretary Mellon admits that he received for the republican campaign fund $50,000 of the Sinclair Liberty bonds in 1923 but says that he returned them to former Chairman Hays, of the republican national committee. Chairman Butler, who handled the Coolidge campaign, also admitted having received $25,000 of the bonds, but declared that he too returned them to Mr. Hays. The latter's method of meeting the 1920 deficit by an appropriation from Sinclair after the oil lease, covering the fact up with fictitious appropriations, is one of the most questionable transactions of the nature in the political history of this country.

This adds to the oil scandal in view of the fact that the party leaders left unexplained their long silence. The fact is, the whole tainted transaction was adroitly concealed, although the public lands committee of the senate had exhausted every avenue of information to learn the secret of the naval oil leases made previously to Sinclair by Albert B. Fall, then secretary of the interior, and from which the courts found that the latter had profited to the extent of $400,000.

The statement of Secretary Mellon emphasizes the knowledge that the administration officials knew of the Fall-Sinclair transactions.

No one questions the personal integrity of Secretary Mellon. The integrity of Mr. Hays, then postmaster general, is not questioned. Nor is that of former Senator Butler. There is no evidence as yet that any one except Fall personally profited by the negotiations with Sinclair.

The concealing of the facts, however, when the senate committee was doing its best to get at the bottom of the whole oil transaction cannot be excused.

It will provide an issue in the approaching campaign, and one that will cause the republican party a great deal of trouble, regardless of who may be the nominee for president.

MUSIC WEEK IN GEORGIA.

The Georgia Federation of Music Clubs, which is holding its annual convention in Rome, is deserving of great credit for promoting a higher regard for music in all circles, and especially among the younger generation.

Of all branches of culture not one has a greater appeal than music.

The man or woman who has a knowledge and an appreciation of music is the better citizen by reason of that fact.

Music should be taught in every school. It should be a part of the cultural life of every home.

Where there is music in the home there are present the other elements that tend to domestic happiness and contentment.

From the days of the earliest history of civilization music has played an important part in framing the character of peoples and of nations.

The most outstanding cultural event in Georgia is the annual season of grand opera in Atlanta. It brings visitors from many states. It makes the city better and happier. It leaves a greater character impress upon every person who enjoys the program.

The Georgia federation in this respect is doing a splendid service.

Defending his action in an assault and battery charge brought by his wife a Georgia man said his wife insisted in frying his eggs when he wanted them hard-boiled. The judge knew what to do with a hard-boiled husband.

A boat off Cuba had a sweet time weathering a gale. Sixty thousand gallons of molasses were discharged from the boat to keep down the tremendous waves.

We are going to spend $11,000,000 to get a longer range to the guns on the major ships, but what we need is a shorter range on some of the notes of the national anthem.

The man who killed his wife, mother-in-law and two children was too crazy to make a plea of insanity.

The drys should not hold it against a man in politics because he is a good mixer.

Virginia has been having an oyster war. They probably put over a barrage of shells.

Some communities will never wake up and find themselves prosperous for they never wake up.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Unamuno's Pangs.

When Gustave Flaubert was writing down the experiences of Madame Bovary in that romance that passes for the outstanding sample of realistic novels, it is said he personally experienced the symptoms of poisoning. When Don Miguel Unamuno wrote "Mists" and had come to the point where the chief character makes a plea to the author to be granted another stretch of life with the pathetic words: "But I want to live, Don Miguel; I do not want to die," at the moment of writing these words, Don Miguel says, he felt himself dying. "Perhaps it was that the book was autobiographical," I objected to the Spanish savant when he told me this. "But no," he replied, "all the personages that I have created are drawn from my soul, from my inner reality that makes up a whole people. But whether they are myself, is another question. Who am I myself? Who is he that signs himself Miguel de Unamuno? Simply one of my personages, one of my creatures . . . But the ultimate 'me,' that transcendent and immanent 'me,' God knows what it is. Perhaps it's God Himself. . . ."

Forged Pictures.

The works of certain modern French painters sell so well that quite a lucrative business is forging them has grown up, especially as some of them are not so very difficult to forge. Theer are certainly more pictures being sold as being by Utrillo than he ever painted, and the same may be said of Othon Friesz. The other day some water colors announced as being by Vlaminck were suddenly withdrawn from a sale, as they were found not to be genuine, and the same painter recently visited a gallery where some pictures described as being by him were being shown, and publicly and dramatically defaced them with a palette knife. These forgeries have even come before the courts of law, for recently a collector, who had sold three supposed works of Toulouse Lautree, since discovered to be false, has been obliged to refund the purchase price.

Know Your Rules.

Visitors to Paris will in future be well advised to be careful in crossing the street. It is not that they have not always needed that advice, but now they will not only have the risk of being run over, but also that of being run over against the rules. The old legend that in Paris you were prosecuted for being in the way will, in fact, be true, at least under certain circumstances. If you cross at a place where there is an "agent" and he has held up his white truncheon to stop the traffic, and you are then run over, you will have nothing to pay. You will even have nothing to pay for crossing elsewhere than at a marked and licensed crossing place, but only if your line is at right angles to that of the road. If you cross diagonally, you will not only be run over but run in, and that even if you are not run over. You will also be run in if you try to cut across any place where two or more roads meet, instead of working your way round the edge of it and crosing each road separately, so that I suppose nobody will ever be able again to visit the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at the Arc de Triomphe.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

Some Instances of How Faith Falls Down From Lack of Works.

Some of my surely good friends, who seem to read this column with a critical interest and regularly, have occasional fears that their "favorite author," in his wrinkling years is becoming unorthodox in several lines of thought and opinion. It may be so. And I should be sad indeed to find out that it is so.

But I learned quite a while back that the fact that one is not drifting with the current of prevailing sentiment is no sign of actual heresy. It is very well, often, to have that "decent respect for the opinions of mankind" of which Jefferson spoke in the great declaration, but it is not always safe to adopt those opinions.

The Question of "Original Sin."

One good friend hastens to chide my reference to the theological dictum that "in Adam's fall we sinned all," and omits to consider that I said that many very honest and thoughtful men do not accept that as the truth. But I will admit here and now that I do not myself believe that statement to be the "whole truth and nothing but the truth." On the contrary, and on the authority of Christ himself, I reject it.

St. Paul was a learned man and a great logician. He argued to the legalists of the Jews, the Greeks and the Romans upon their own premises and preached the new law of free grace upon the terms of faith in Christ and obedience to the commandments as Christ interpreted them. And on his gospel I can stand solidly without believing we are all "born sinners."

* * * *

The Works of Faith Are Needed.

The longer I circulate among men and study "the ways of the world" the more convinced I am that the works of faith are more to be desired than mere words of theological belief. St. James clearly understood and proclaimed that "faith without works is dead." And so it is.

Count Keyserling, a very acute modern philosopher, seems to believe that the reason why Christianity has not already, after 19 centuries, captured, converted and cleansed the whole civilized world is that those who profess the divine principles of Christ have failed to honestly and persistently practice them.

I think he is right about that, and that anyone can see abundant evidences of that truth in the daily life about him—in Atlanta the same as elsewhere.

* * * *

Some Inescapable Instances.

If, for instance, those good men and women who criticise me for saying in this column that "prohibition as is" is a miserable sham, would get busy operating their Christian spirits and courage on the bootlegg.s instead of on me, they would get better prohibition here in Atlanta.

They should "work their faith" and belligerency on the city council, on the police force, on the courts that are collecting agencies from the bootleggers, and upon the pardoning powers that are so prone to turn the liquor rascals loose when they are accidentally convicted.

I know that the professed Christians of Atlanta could, in ten days, make the city too hot to contain or attract a bootlegger, if they would "work" their faith as they could do. But they won't!

* * * *

What I Saw in Florida.

Down in Florida, one of the most favored and delectable spots that God has put upon this planet, I saw glaring instances of how completely professed Christianity surrenders to covetousness and current conventions.

In Tampa, perhaps the most substantial and promising metropolis of the state, there is a strong Christian element, capable of dictating the conditions of the city socially and morally. But it does not do it. Why? Because of the fear that a "clean town" would be passed up by the winter tourists and the hotels, boarding houses and merchants would "lose trade!"

And yet the fact is, and well demonstrated, that the mass of winter visitors in Florida are good people who crowd the churches every Sabbath and often overflow them.

* * * *

Take the case of Rev. Walt Holcomb, son-in-law of the late Rev. Sam Jones, and himself known in Georgia and nationally as one of the most effective evangelists of our generation. Walt is pastor of the Hyde Park Methodist Episcopal church, south, in Tampa. It is the premier church of the denomination in Tampa. Walt has put the fire of enthusiasm into its membership and the church cannot supply room for the worshippers who crowd to its doors. His membership has caught from him the spirit of the faith that fruits in "works," and their good works of practical Christianity are leavening the life of the whole city.

Then, across the bay, in the beautiful city of St. Petersburg, an Atlantan will encounter Rev. Lincoln McConnell, who was once an effective police detective in Atlanta. "Link" has been, for many years, a rousing evangelist all over the American map and left good works wherever he has been. He came last from Oklahoma City to be pastor of the First Baptist church in St. Petersburg. "Link" sticks to his slogan, "I will show you my faith by my works." The consequence in St. Pete is that the crowds who press to his ministry have run him out of his stately church building. His members have had to lease a lot and build a tabernacle costing $16,000 to seat 3,000 people who insist upon hearing McConnell's red-blooded and practical sermons!

Yet there are fools in the community who think that people from all over America come to St. Petersburg to "cut loose"—to drink, and gamble, and cavort in sins and immoralities! What bunk that is!

Here Is Real Moral Idiocy.

Getting back to Tampa, consider the case of the gambling lottery game called "bolita." It is a Cuban scheme of robbery. I am told by one of the late managers of the dog-racing sport that "bolita" is a worse scheme of highway plundering than the dog tracks. And he confessed that the dog-tracks are dead-cinch robber traps.

"Bolita" is absorbing daily the needed surplus earnings of many thousands of the poorer people of Tampa and many hundreds of the better class of wage-earners in offices and stores.

The Tampa Times newspaper, the property of Mayor McKay, has taken up the cudgels against the thieving game, but "somehow or other," the prosecutors and the police cannot devise any way to reach the robbers and stop them. They arrest a few of them who give fictitious names, post a $50 cash bonds, forfeit the bond, and escape with that license to "go ahead," because no bench warrant issues to recapture and force them to trial and possible actual punishment.

This is one of those flagrant instances of too loose criminal legislation and administration. It is an opportunity to the Christians of Tampa to show practically and effectively how they can "work!"

Health Talks

BRIEF BIOGRAPHY OF DOCTOR FOSTER.

Every literary authority has a finest biography all ready to pop when the question arises. I've glanced hastily through a score of the world's best biographies, and if anyone should ever ask me I'd try to say casually and without amateurish enthusiasm, Cushing's Life of Osler. Not at all because Osler was a doctor, nor because Cushing is a doctor. Should any reader take this hint and read Cushing's Life of Osler and then confess that he is not charmed by the biographer's style we will cheerfully refund the cost of the hint.

The trouble with so many biographies is that they have unwieldy bulk without substance. Take Ludwig's Bismarck, for instance; but be sure to take it p. n., for if you get involved in it before his Napoleon you may conclude that all Ludwig's stuff is like that, and so miss Napoleon. Perhaps Napoleon's life was big enough to fill a hefty volume; Bismarck's was not, and Ludwig makes a terrible job of it, packing and padding the book up to the full size.

Now my idea of a good biography is a story of a man's life told in the shortest possible way. For example, suppose we had a juicy contract with some publisher to write the Life of Foster. I think it could be issued complete in one volume, to wit: Doctor Foster at the height of his career surprised all his friends by suddenly withdrawing from a large and lugubrious practice and moving to Glocester. Through some trick of fate—or was it fortune—for you know, baths were not being done at the time—it came on to rain about the time he started, and it kept up a steady downpour all the way. (Here, if the contract required it, we would work in six or eight chapters about climate, rainfall, crops, husbandry, the doctor's favorite dog, women, roads, fishing, neighbors, and the like, to any desired length.) However, nothing came of it. The doctor survived and lived happily for long years. And so we leave him, surrounded by his great-grandchildren, an inscrutable look in his eye and several pipefuls of rank tobacco scattered over his lap.

Mr. H. M. L. writes that he encounters tough arguments when he tries to "repreach your dope about immunity and the exposure business." He says the poor fish retort that in my articles I am dealing with 100 per cent healthy birds, and my arguments do not apply to a man with one lung all shot or a person who has what purports to be "catarrhal trouble" of some kind.

My teachings apply to healthy folk, of course, but just the same, hygiene is hygiene, for sick or well, and immunity is immunity, and these birds with one lung all shot or something that purports to be "catarrh" are sadly mistaken if they imagine what is good for a healthy person is not good for them. Mr. L. suggests that I have passed rather lightly over one of the reasons for the popular notion that exposure causes "cri." He refers to the fact that persons with, say, chronic rhinitis, or sinusitis, or bronchitis, are more sensitive to the mechanical changes in circulation from drafts, sudden chilling, and the like. I have discussed that dozens of times. If I drag it in every time we touch the subject a lot of the poor saps will get the notion that such "exposure" really is bad for them.

Certainly my nose will run or stuff up on trifling exposure, if I have some chronic disease condition like rhinitis. But I do not mistake this temporary discomfort for an illness. That's all there is about it.

Timely Views of Noted Americans

AN ANTI'S VIEW OF PROHIBITION.

BY WILLIAM H. STAYTON.

Chairman of the Association Against Prohibition Amendment.

(William H. Stayton, of Baltimore, Md., was born in Smyrna, Del., in 1861. He was graduated from the United States naval academy in 1881. Stayton served in the United States navy for several years, later resigning to become admiralty lawyer and gradually shifting into management of steamship companies. He is considered a national authority on ocean transportation. Stayton is a member of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, and founder and president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.)

Our losses under prohibition have been great. We have lost some of the fundamentals of our government; we have lost respect for government officers, possible because some of them no longer deserve our respect. We have lost respect for our government itself; we wink and let our politicians get away with evasive statements.

Deaths from alcoholism are twice as many as before prohibition, and finally we have lost a great deal of money without having obtained the benefits prohibition was supposed to bring. The return of 2 3-4 per cent beer would bring in such a revenue in taxes that corporation and individual taxes, now so burdensome, would be wiped out.

The eighteenth amendment insults the people of a democracy by showing a lack of faith in them to govern themselves. Everything possible has been done to tie our hands and those of our children. They will have no chance to legislate on this question. The declaration of independence has been largely scrapped. We no longer have the liberty to lead normal lives, but are getting back to the long-gone days when the head wolf's whim was the law of the pack.

Take a Look at "Sirius," Brilliant Night Sun

Editor Constitution: When we see and study the sun Sirius of the constellation Canis Major we are seeing and studying the most brilliant sun of night. Of course there are other brilliant star jewels, like Canopus and Alpha Centauri, but each of these suns is outshone by Sirius. Nevertheless, Sirius is not a large sun and its luminosity is only 25 times that of our own sun. But Sirius of Canis Major is one of the nearer stars of night. Its distance approximates 50 trillion miles, but, comparatively speaking, Sirius is one of our "neighbors."

Sirius of Canis Major is scintillating amid the "chambers of the south." It resembles a veritable star-diamond. It is indeed brilliant and beautiful. It has also been named the "Dog star" and "Canicula." Once seen we shall not forget it. On beholding it for the first time we may exclaim:

"Supreme, supernal, sparkling and sublime,
Undimmed through eras of eternal time,
Afar yet near, resplendent like a gem

Odds & Ends of City Life

by Bill Shippen

The pedestrian fitted best for survival comes equipped with a subconscious danger alarm that clamors a warning the moment he steps from the curb.

Or so says an absent-minded fellow, for years successful in preserving an active consciousness of traffic, who awoke from a chance abstraction to find himself draped on a bumper.

He opines the sub-conscious is always alert; but can't say just yet whether his broken ribs penetrated, or made any impression on this ethereal realm of fancy.

In other words, he thinks one type of man automatically folds his newspaper to cross a street, while another tells himself, "I must be careful," and becomes so absorbed with the question he runs down a motor truck.

For my part, I am almost constantly aware of the peril, yet owe my life so fat to a God-given ability to leap several yards in most any direction.

That sinister germ which instigates the annual spring fever epidemic is at work in the city room. The office cat hasn't moved so much as the tip of his tail in an hour.

The office boy is suspiciously absent when there's copy to be moved, although he will deny the carge that he has been napping in the file room. And as for the city editors . . . but I guess we better change the subject.

It is the little courtesies of the road which warm the heart of the wayfarer. They are so unusual. Most everyone is polite under his rooftree. He well nigh has to be. But out on the street he can abandon restraint.

There are worthty citizens here who could well ape the example set by a colored boy the other day.

When a ladder truck on an emergency run approached a street intersection, did this darky try to hog the right-of-way by driving his chicken wagon out on the pavement.

He did not! Rather, he said, "Whoa, Agatha," to his mule. The mule heard and stopped, while the driver, with a grand gesture of his whip, motioned the city fire department by.

Little thoughtful acts like that will make Atlanta such a cheerful city.

Join our "Drive Courteously" campaign.

One of the busiest men I ever saw was the fellow who negotiated a four-door sedan through a traffic jam with all his doors swinging open at once. He stopped at a street corner and picked up his family . . . the man seemed glad to see them.

KLAN HEADQUARTERS MOVE TO WASHINGTON

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—Except for its regalia factory and printing plant, which will be kept in Atlanta, all of the activities of the Ku Klux Klan hereafter will be conducted from Washington.

This announcement was made last night by Dr. Hiram Wesley Evans, imperial wizard, after the work of moving into new quarters on Massachusetts avenue began earlier in the day.

Dr. Evans said the activities of the klan were growing and that the headquarters has been transferred here because he believed Washington was a more effective location for the dissemination of klan doctrines.

The imperial wizard, who has maintained executive headquarters here several years, will remain in his offices a few blocks away from the klan home, an old brick mansion, which is a temporary one pending the finding of a suitable place to rent or construction of its own building.

The department of realms and the mailing department are being moved into the new quarters. The office of the imperial kligraph or grand secretary still is in Atlanta, but will be transferred here soon, Dr. Evans said.

PROTEST ON DEAVER OF LITTLE IMPORT

Washington, March 14.—(United News.)—Confidence that the president's nomination of Judge Bascom D. Deaver, of Macon, to succeed Federal Judge Tilson, who failed of confirmation, will be approved by the subcommittee now making an investigation of a protest filed was expressed at the office of both Georgia senators today.

Names of the protestants were not disclosed, although it was said that Senator George had been furnished them. Senator Deneen, republican, Illinois, and Senator Stevens, democrat, Mississippi, are members of the subcommittee which will probably report the nomination next Monday.

The nature of the protest against Judge Deavers, which one Georgian today described as from "an obscure constituent," was not divulged and it was indicated that the protest is not of sufficient importance to justify holding hearings. Both the Georgia senators favor the confirmation and are, it was said here today, willing to scrap for the Macon man.

KING MONUMENT BILL PASSES IN CONGRESS

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—Erection of a monument at Clinton, S. C., in commemoration of William Rufus King, former vice president, proposed in the Abernathy bill, was authorized today by the house. The measure now goes to the senate.

Senate Gets Warning Note From Sandino

Washington, March 14.—(United News.)—A protest against the use of American marines in Nicaragua signed by General A. C. Sandino, leader of the rebels, was delivered to Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, by Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the Nation, today.

This document, together with copies of an exchange of messages between Sandino and Rear Admiral D. F. Sellers, commandant of the American forces in Nicaragua, were given by Sandino to Carleton Beals, special correspondent of the Nation, according to Villard. They revealed Sandino had rejected an American peace offer.

Sandino's protest was in the form of a message to the United States senate. It included.

"I demand the immediate withdrawal of the invading troops. Otherwise from this date on I cannot be responsible for the safety of any North American official resident in Nicaragua."

Included in the documents was a message purported sent by Sandino to the sixth Pan-American congress in Havana, Cuba. It protested against the recognition of the Nicaraguan delegates and against the American marines.

The Character Reflected in a Woman's Face Is Her Husband's

By Robert Quillen

The great man sat in a restaurant and nibbled bread while he made conversation with his secretary.

"Bill Jones has applied for that job," said he, "and I've been investigating him. It's a peculiar case. Nobody says a word against him; he stands well socially and his personal note is good; his face reveals nothing wrong; he looks you straight in the eye and has a hearty handclasp; he has enough bad habits to seem human, and he doesn't seem affected; but I have an uneasy feeling there's something wrong with him, and even those who praise him seem to have some mental reservation."

"Huh!" said the secretary. He didn't seem interested. "Take a look at that little woman at the third table," he suggested. "See anything unusual?"

"She's got a grouch," said the great man. "That isn't unusual."

"It is for her," said the secretary. "I knew her a year ago, before she married."

"What about it?" asked the great man.

"Well," said the secretary, "she's changed. That hard, defiant look means she's a proud woman who has some shame to conceal from the world."

"Maybe she's ashamed of herself."

"Not her. It's her husband's shame she's defiant about. Look at her expression now, in repose. Poor kid! That hurt look means she's been cheated and betrayed by somebody she loved and trusted. You can't mistake it."

"All right, Sherlock. What's your interpretation?"

"It's clear enough," said the secretary. She worshiped the fellow she married, and thought him a wonder. The hurt look means she's found out he's a rotter. And the defiant look means she loves him anyway and is helping him to conceal his rottenness from the world."

The great man gave his attention to the soup. "I believe you're right," said he, "but what has she to do with the mysterious Bill Jones and his application for a job."

"She explains the mystery," said the secretary. "She's Bill's wife."

RAP G. O. P. CHIEFS IN OIL DISCLOSURES

Washington, March 14.—(United News.)—Democratic leaders have begun a new attack on the administration and the republican party organization on the basis of recent disclosures regarding the use of Harry F. Sinclair's oil money by prominent party figures.

Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, a presidential candidate just back from a speaking trip to the Pacific coast, said the country is inflamed by republican corruption which, he said, had grown like a cancer.

Senator Caraway, Arkansas, democrat, in a senate speech said Will Hayes was a "fence" who disposed of "stolen property" in placing Sinclair bonds with republican leaders.

Represenative William A. Oldfield, chairman of the democratic national congressional campaign committee, called upon President Coolidge to "clean house" by forcing a restoration of Sinclair money and to insure that more cooperation is given to Senator Walsh, of Montana, in running down further facts about the oil affair.

Meanwhile Chairman Nye, of the senate Teapot Dome committee, and Senator Norbeck, South Dakota, republican, a member of the committee, left for Chicago, where tomorrow they will question witnesses for further light on the use made there of Sinclair contributions to the republican party funds.

"The country is inflamed by republican corruption," Reed said, "corruption cannot be dissected from the republican party without killing the organizatoin itself. Denby and Dougherty were let out of the cabinet with a clean bill of health by a president who knew of the corruptionist activities.

"Mellon knew he was asked to cover $50,000 in bonds representing part of the corrupt spoils. Hayes deliberately deceived the senate investigating committee. The party leaders attempted to conceal the fact that Sinclair was the party angel."

Senator Caraway centered his criticism on Will Hayes chiefly.

"No one can doubt now but that Will Hays had full knowledge of what Fall had done," Caraway said. "No one can believe he did not know that the bonds were the fruit of the stolen money. At least three cabinet members had them in their possession and they must have known, too.

"The most than can be said of Hays is that he was a 'fence' disposing of stolen property."

TESTIMONIAL DINNER GIVEN TO DR. ADAIR

A testimonial dinner to Dr. R. B. Adair, of Atlanta, for sixty years a dental practitioner in Georgia, was given by the Southern Academy of Periodontology Wednesday night, more than fifty members of the organization attending.

Prominent speakers included Dr. Justin Towner, of Memphis, president of the American Academy of Periodontology; Dr. S. W. Foster, of Atlanta; Dr. R. Holmes Mayson, of Macon; Dr. H. H. Johnson, of Macon, and Dr. Arthur Merritt, of New York.

Dr. Adair is a pioneer dentist and is prominently connected with the history of that profession in Georgia. He was a member of the first board of dental examiners of the state.

Dr. Adair perhaps has done more research work in pyorrhoea than any other dentist in the south, and he is the author of more professional papers than any other member of the Georgia State Dental society.

GEORGIA'S GAIN IS 307,168

Georgia soon will rank 11th among all other states in the union in population, the census bureau at Washington announced Wednesday.

By July 1, the announcement showed, the Empire State of the South will have an officially estimated population of 3,203,000, which will displace Indiana as the 11th ranking state.

This estimated population will represent a gain of 307,168, or more than 10 per cent, since the last official census was taken, in 1920, when the population for Georgia stood at 2,895,832.

States which will at that time stand ahead of Georgia in population are New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Texas, Michigan, California, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Missouri.

The new total was arrived at by estimating the increase since 1920 on the basis of the available returns on births, deaths, immigration and emigration.

The bureau also apportioned the increase on this basis for the 48 states and the District of Columbia.

Florida, where the population was estimated to have increased about 48 per cent increase was indicated for ed the greatest gain, although a 35 per cent increase was indicated for California and nearly 30 per cent gain for Michigan.

Mexico City, March 14.—(United News.)—Lewis Rhoads, American manager of the Plomo Zinc Mine, has been arrested by federal troops at Higuero, state of Jalisco, Mrs. Rhoads telegraphed the American embassy today. She said her husband was charged with aiding Catholic rebels.

Mrs. Rhoads said bandits had raided the mine last week, seizing money. A few days later the federals arrested Rhoads, accusing him of lending financial assistance to the Catholics, she added.

The embassy has made informal representations to the foreign office which is making an investigation through the war department.

GRANT EXTENSION TO MEN CONVICTED OF JURY TAMPERING

8 NATIONAL GUARD HEADS HERE TODAY

A formal military reception will be accorded eight adjutants general from states comprising the fourth corps area when they arrive at Fort McPherson at 9:30 o'clock this morning to begin a conference with Major General Richmond P. Davis, corps area commander, looking toward betterment of national guard units throughout the area.

The eight visiting national guard heads from Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and North and South Carolina will be met at the main gate by a guard of honor, which General A. G. Lott, commanding officer at Fort McPherson, has been directed to provide.

OFFICERS NAMED FOR NEWLY-FORMED ATLANTA AIR CLUB

The organization formed recently among a group of young Atlantans interested in aviation will be called the "Gate City Aero club," it was decided at a recent meeting held in the Palmer building.

Officers for the organization, heretofore known as the Atlanta Aero club, were named as follows: M. F. Dowdy, president; C. M. Ford, Jr., vice president; C. C. Crosswell, secretary; R. P. Mikell, treasurer, and J. L. Atkinson, sergeant at arms.

George L. Vickery was chosen chief pilot for the club, while a special committee named to consider plans for purchase of a suitable plane includes Mr. Vickery, R. E. L. Cone and Mr. Ford.

The purpose of the club is to instruct flying students at a nominal cost, it was announced.

The publicity committee is composed of Mr. Ford and Mr. Dowdy, while R. E. L. Cone was named legal adviser. Several new applications for membership were filed at the meeting.

Persons interested in membership can apply for additional information to Mr. Crosswell, of the city waterworks department.

JAYCEES TO STAGE STREET PAGEANT TO AID HOME SHOW

"Atlanta, Old and New," will be presented Saturday night in a torchlight parade or street pageant to be given by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Starting from Whitehall and Garnett streets at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night, the parade will march out Peachtree to Baker street, where it will disband.

The parade is to be given as a "stunt" to call attention to the opening Monday night of the Southern Building and Household exposition, to be held at the auditorium all next week, with the Junior Chamber of Commerce in charge.

"Atlanta in 1870" will be portrayed by ancient vehicles of that date, an open-faced victoria drawn by white horses, a family carriage or two and other "rigs" which have been standing in dusty old barns since the advent of the motor car. A dozen pretty girls will be the drivers and passengers.

Various phases in the history of Atlanta will be portrayed by early models of "one-lung" automobiles, and the Atlanta of today will be represented by the newest models of cars and airplanes. The Atlanta Police band and a steam calliope will provide the music for the parade.

The auditorium will be turned over Friday to the fifty exhibitors of the big "Home Show" to give them time to lay the brick, tiles and plaster necessary for their displays of building materials and to install the various elaborate displays. Virtually the entire floor space has been sold, it is announced by Virgil W. Shepard, in charge of exhibits.

TO AIR CITY HALL SHOOTING FRIDAY

Firing of the shot in the Atlanta city hall Wednesday morning in an altercation between Walter C. Harwell, city marshal, and his chief deputy, Steve Glass, will be offered to Fulton county grand jury at its regular session Friday, it was announced Wednesday afternoon by Solicitor General John Boykin.

This statement followed a lengthy conference between Mr. Glass and the solicitor. A warrant, sworn by by Glass against Harwell charging shooting at another, which was taken in the criminal division of the municipal court, will be heard at 10 o'clock Saturday morning before Judge Luther Z. Rosser, or Judge A. L. Ethridge.

Harwell was placed under $500 bond for shooting at another and gave a $500 peace bond on a warrant also taken out by Glass. He also made a $1,000 bond to the city police on charges of shooting at another.

Ill feeling which has existed between the two men flared early in the morning and culminated when Harwell is alleged to have fired a shot at Glass from close range, missing him.

Details of the affair differ widely. Mr. Harwell declined to make any statement pending his appearance in court.

Mr. Glass' version of the affair was as follows:

"Mr. Harwell came into the office about 8:30 o'clock, and after severely criticizing me for political activities dismissed me from the service. We had some hot words, and suddenly Mr. Harwell whipped out a pistol, pressing it against my chest.

"I knocked the weapon aside just as he pulled the trigger, and the bullet struck the wall near the floor in the marshal's office. We then clinched, and he struck me under the eye, but several men rushed in and separated us. We were the only two in the office at the time."

A large crowd waiting in the lobby of the city hall to make tax returns was thrown into confusion when the shot was fired, but order was restored quickly.

TWIN VIADUCT BIDS TO BE OPENED APRIL 2

Bids for the twin viaduct contracts will be opened and tabulated by the bridge committee of council at noon on April 2, with a strong prospect of an early start on actual construction work, city hall officials said Wednesday.

Concerns submitting the bids include the Griffin Construction company, C. A. D. Bayley company, Brooks-Callaway company, Seaboard and Southern Construction company, McDougald Construction company, Davis Construction company, Nichols Construction company, and the Meador Construction company, all of Atlanta, and the Gauger-Korsmo company, of Memphis, Tenn.; A. Bentley & Sons, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Doullut & Ewin, of Mobile, Ala.

The board of education plans to open bids on March 27 for the Edgewood avenue and Morningside school projects. A large number of out-of-town concerns are bidding for this work, the specifications for which were drawn by Lloyd Preacher, architect.

COLONEL HANSON TO RETIRE JUNE 17 AS QUARTERMASTER

Colonel Linwood E. Hanson, for the past nine months fourth corps area quartermaster at Fort McPherson, has received word from the war department that he is to be ordered to his home here, effective March 14, to await retirement.

Colonel Hanson is due for retirement, by reason of reaching the age of 64, on June 17. He is to be on leave status until that date, expecting to remain in Atlanta until the first part of April before going to New York city, where he intends to establish his future home.

Colonel Hanson is a native of Massachusetts and began his military career as a captain in the Massachusetts infantry in the early days of the Spanish-American war. Following that war he entered the regular army as a first lieutenant of infantry. His entire service has been in that branch and in the quartermaster corps. Following the world war he was engaged in the important work of disposing of surplus government property, which work was performed in a very highly creditable manner.

CRITTENDON HOME SERVICE IS SHOWN IN CHEST REPORT

Service to the community in directing many young women into normal, happy relations with society, where otherwise there might have been different results from their problems, was described Wednesday in the report of February activities of the Florence Crittendon Home, as rendered to the service department of the Community Chest, in connection with which it operates.

The report showed that 35 mothers and 18 babies found shelter in the home in the month. Mrs. J. A. The home is operated by a staff of three workers, under a board of management of which Mrs. F. M. Robinson is president.

SHOTGUN AND CASH LOOT OF BURGLARS

A highly-prized shotgun and eight dollars in cash formed the loot of burglars who entered the residence of J. A. White, at 210 Buller street, N. E., Tuesday night, according to a report Wednesday to detectives.

Police were told that the Rogers store at 460 Cherokee was entered Tuesday night by burglars who knocked out a panel in the rear door. Cigarettes and other articles valued at $30 were reported missing.

NEIGHBORHOOD MOVIES—

MADISON—"She's a Sheik."
PALACE—"Jesse James."
PONCE DE LEON—"Get Your Man."
WEST END—"Jesse James."

Keith's Georgia.

"Tillie's Punctured Romance" is the feature film at Keith's Georgia this week and depicts a circus that went to war. The action is one round of laughs. W. C. Fields, Chester Conklin and Louise Fazenda are the three principals. Fields, the ringmaster; Conklin owner of the circus and Miss Fazenda, one of the star performers. The complete show, wild animals and all, is taken to France during the war and three comedians should receive due credit for winning the war—at least they furnished plenty of the laughs.

Capitol.

The largest crowds in the history of the Capitol theater, if not in local theatrical history, are fighting this week to see the great Capitol theater program which is headed by Jimmie Hodges and his big follies company. The crowds at night are so unusually large that the management asks patrons whenever possible to attend the early matinee show, in order to prevent such a great amount of "turn-aways" at the night show. In addition to the whirlwind comedy of Jimmie Hodges, the Capitol bill this week presents three great acts which were brought here direct from New York by the Capitol management. Murray and Allen, "Jesters of 3,000 Years Ago" head the vaudeville, and they are ably supported by Connie Mitchell, and the Musical Geralds, sensational novelty musicians. On the screen this week is Marie Prevost in "The Rush Hour," a clever screen comedy.

Loew's Grand.

Two acts of extraordinary attractiveness are found on the excellent all-around bill of vaudeville on the program at Loew's Grand theater this week. One of these acts is the comedy feature of Marty Collins and Harry Peterson entitled "You're A Wise Guy" and the other is the spectacular "Casino de Paree," revue featuring Ameilia Allen and ten pretty dancing girls who appear in one of the most lavishly staged acts of the year. Andy and Louise Barlow appear in a clever comedy skit with smart dance numbers. Charles Morrell appears in a pleasing song program while Hammer and Hammer offer a knockabout comedy tumbling and dancing act. The Loew feature picture is "The Smart Set," a fast, romantic comedy of the polo field with William Haines in the leading role.

Howard.

Atlantans are having their first opportunity to see at popular prices, "Old Ironsides," being shown this week at the Howard. "Old Ironsides" is a Paramount Super-special, featuring Esther Ralston, Wallace Beery, George Bancroft, and Charles Farrell. The Publix stage show this week is "Dancing Brides," a John Murray Anderson production, featuring Milo, comedian, and the Howard stage orchestra. In addition to Milo, two other acts which have been particularly well received are Jules and Jose Walton, dancing stars, and Al and Jack Rand, "The Dancing Deacons."

Metropolitan.

"The Jazz Singer" with Al Jolson and the new Vitaphone continues to please as it nears the end of a four week run—its popularity is yet undimmed despite the long run and the thousands of people who have already seen and heard Al Jolson, still come and pay a glowing tribute to a great production and a greater star—Al Jolson.

Rialto.

"The Magic Flame" at the Rialto features Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, known throughout Hollywood as two artists who are as handsome off the screen as they are on. Miss Banky is a light blond with a delicate peach complexion. Mr. Colman is much darker with black hair and brown eyes. In "The Magic Flame," playing at the Rialto all this week, both these artists look their very best surrounded as they are with beautiful sets and backgrounds.

New Empire.

Atlantans and in particular the residents of that section, next Monday will be given a delightful new neighborhood theater, when Manager Alpha A. Fowler opens the new Empire theater, at Crew street and Georgia avenue, which was constructed at a cost of more than $125,000.

The theater has a seating capacity of 900, is equipped with a splendid Sebring organ and all other features are the latest model. The opening picture Monday will be "The Colleens and Kellys in Paris."

Ponce de Leon.

The flaming and flamboyant youthfulness of Clara Bow, matched with her own "It" is seen at the very height of its attractiveness in "Get Your Man" the feature picture offering at the Ponce de Leon theater for today and Friday. In "Get Your Man," Clara gives one of the peppiest performances she has ever brought to the screen, and a delightful story sets off her art to perfection. She is supported by a talented cast of young stars.

West End.

"Jesse James," Fred Thompson's best picture, which comes to the West End today and Friday, is an authentic record of one of the most amazing characters in American history. It has dash, marvelous horsemanship and some hair-raising stunts, but it also has a beautifully told dramatic story.

Palace.

"Jesse James," the story of a man who lived by his wits and his guns for 14 long years—and the woman who remained steadfast in her love for him, begins a two-day run at the Palace today. Fred Thompson has reached the heights in this.

Alamo No. 2.

In "Stage Kisses," the Columbia Pictures' production at the Alamo No. 2 theater today Helene Chadwick, who has the leading feminine role opposite Kenneth Harlan, wears more than her weight in jeweled gowns. She portrays the role of a premier danseuse in a Broadway production. The wardrobe is part of the costumes used in the production of "Frivolities" in which the character appears.

Midnight Frolic.

Irving C. Miller's famous "Blue Baby" musical comedy company will furnish amusement for a white audience at the next scheduled midnight performance at the 81 Decatur street theater, it was announced Monday by Manager Charles P. Bailey.

This is one of the fastest colored shows on the road and in the roster will appear a notable array of singers dancers and comedians.

Among the stars are Billy Young and Edgar Martin, two comedians whose great work is well known in Atlanta. A host of other talented performers including a peppy chorus will appear with the attraction.

weeks to fix the figure, which might be found anywhere between $7,000,000 and $30,000,000.

Clue to Missing.

A possible clue to the disappearance of many persons, reported missing in the St. Francis dam disaster, tonight was given partial confirmation by Red Cross agencies in charge of relief work here. They were declared to have been Mexicans, who for 24 hours had hidden themselves in the mesquite-covered hills because of fright, and reappeared today.

The clue was based on the widely-quoted report that a stream of people early yesterday poured out of Santa Clara river valley towns and over the hills to safety in the Ojai valley. Red Cross workers expressed the opinion these fleeing ones, mostly Mexicans, had fled desperately from what they believed would be death in a tidal wave or other little understood catastrophe.

The flight over the hills continued for several hours.

Inquiries, however, in the Ojai valley failed to reveal any trace of the missing two or three hundred.

Today the list of families seeking Red Cross aid leaped from 160 to nearly 400. The organization explained this as an answer to the large list of missing, whom they believed were the Mexicans.

After hiding away in the Ojai valley hills, today they filtered back to seek food and shelter, the Red Cross said.

COOLIDGE OFFERS AID IN DISASTER.

Washington, March 14.—(United News.)—President Coolidge today offered the resources of the army and navy to aid in the St. Francis dam disaster. In a telegram to Governor C. C. Young, of California, the president said:

"Am deeply distressed by the disaster following breaking of St. Francis dam.

"Please extend my sympathy to those who have suffered sorrow and loss of property. If the army and the navy can render any assistance, or if I, as head of the Red Cross, can do anything to help, do not fail to call on me."

The president's offer of aid was made following a visit to the white house by Senator Shortridge, California republican, who said Mr. Coolidge was ready to tender federal assistance to the stricken San Francisquito canyon district.

Chevrolet Motor Company Heads To Meet Here Friday

M. S. KNUDSEN.

R. H. GRANT.

Chevrolet dealers, associate dealers, sales managers and their bankers from all parts of Georgia gather in Atlanta Friday to attend what is heralded as the most unique and comprehensive program ever attempted in the south by any automobile manufacturer. Dealers will travel thousands of miles to hear M. S. Knudsen, president of the Chevrolet Motor company; R. H. Grant, vice president in charge of sales, and a group of other high executives of the company outline plans by which they expect to sell another million Chevrolets during the year of 1928.

Probably never before in automotive history have so many officials of national reputation gathered at a dealer meeting in the south.

More than 450 dealers and approximately 100 bankers will attend the convention which opens at the Erlanger theater with a business meeting at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Friday night an elaborately-staged banquet will be held at the Biltmore hotel at which the visitors will be guests of the Chevrolet Motor company.

The program Friday afternoon will deal with every phase of the industry which is connected with the successful operation of a retail automobile business.

Assisting Mr. Knudsen and Mr. Grant will be C. F. Barth, vice president in charge of operations; Mr. Williams; C. R. Scharff, traffic director; M. D. Douglas, assistant general sales manager; L. S. Costley, Atlanta regional sales manager; D. G. Frazier, service promotion manager; W. G. Lewellen, new car sales promotion; D. U. Bathrick, used car sales promotion; J. E. Rogers, dealer accounting and finance; Gus Ek, truck sales promotion. Special guests at all of the meetings will include Crane Roberts, new Atlanta assembly plant manager; H. W. Celander, engineer in charge of the Atlanta plant erection; H. J. Schmidt, Atlanta plant comptroller, and T. Sudderth, manager of the Atlanta branch of the General Motors Acceptance corporation.

E. E. Riley, Atlanta zone manager, under whose direction Chevrolet sales have made record increases in Georgia, will act as host to the factory officials, dealers, associate dealers and bankers. Sales figures recently released indicate that Georgia today is selling as many cars as the five states of Georgia, Alabama, Florida, North and South Carolina combined were selling five years ago. These five states now largely make up the Atlanta region, recently established with headquarters in Atlanta. According to estimates, the Chevrolet Motor company, which up until recently employed about 50 persons in the local factory branch, will give work to approximately 1,500 after the assembly plant begins operation.

From Atlanta the officials will journey to Jacksonville, Fla., to hold another meeting of the series with Florida dealers next Monday.

SENATOR PROPOSES COAL COMMISSION

after he had denied that his organization was participating in a conspiracy to eject unionism from the coal fields in order to deflate fuel prices. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, charged the railroads with plotting to that end when he testified as the first witness in the investigation.

On behalf of the New York Central, Bower declared that no agreement had been "made with any other railroad system or company to exert bargaining power to depress prices of railroad fuel or to favor nonunion operators or miners or for any other similar purpose."

The even tenor of Bower's testimony stood out in contrast to the cutting cross-fire which had preceded it, with Joseph E. Magher, of Wheeling, W. Va., under examination by committee members regarding his duties as a "human engineer" for various coal and steel interests. His appearance followed assertions by union attorneys that he was a "notorious strike-buster," in connection with his retention by the Ohio Coal Operators' association.

Meagher admitted to Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, that he had been arrested on liquor charges, but deprecated their significance. He accepted responsibility for the sending out of a circular by the Industrial Relations association which denounced John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers. Questioned by Senator Wagner, democrat, New York, he said that he did not believe in several allegations included in the pamphlet.

One charge in the circular, which Meagher said reached him from an "open shop" organization in California, was that the United Mine Workers was un-American and primarily included foreigners.

Meagher previously had listed "general income tax advice" among his many duties for certain concerns, but he pleaded ignorance of important features of the federal and state tax structures which were cited by Wagner. His work in Ohio, he said, "was in an advisory capacity regarding the institution of flood lights, bunking arrangements and commissaries" on mining properties, where strikes prevailed.

"You might term it of a military nature," he said, in reply to Henry Warrum, union attorney, but he denied that machine guns or firearms of any sort were included in his plans "for protection of property."

VINSON BOMBARDS COTTON TRADER

with Clayton's chief attorney, David H. Miller, occurred more than once.

The Georgia member began by taking up transactions of Clayton's firm in the 1925-26 season, objection by Miller to going that far afield in seeking the cause of the 1927 market collapse failing to get committee support. It was brought out that the Houston firm had taken up low-grade cotton in the south in that season to prevent its being offered in New York against the March futures in which the firm was "long."

Clayton objected to Vinson's reiterated statement that he had "stopped" this cotton from reaching New York, saying he had "bought it." Vinson said the "March position," in which Clayton was long at the time, had "ruled at a premium of 160 points at one time," which tended to attract the cotton to New York. He asked if Clayton had not made specific cotton sale contracts in the south which included a provision that it should not be offered on any market against March deliveries.

Charges Unfairness.

The witness said it was "not fair to imply" that the purchase of cotton in the south at that time was for the purpose of influencing the market and depressing the price received by cotton growers.

"Both parties would have lost if it had gone to New York," he said, explaining that both his firm and the grower would have suffered price losses due to prevailing market conditions.

"We were merely translating March future proceedings into actual cotton in the south."

To reiterated questions as to the firm's "maximum net long interest in the March position" during that season, Clayton finally replied that he did not feel that he should answer without consulting counsel, although he could see no reason himself for not disclosing the figures.

Vinson was leading up to the change of attitude of the firm the following season as to shipping cotton to New York. Clayton was permitted to explain that while the 1925-26 season was complicated by rains and other crop conditions that made it a "high basis" year in trading, the 1926-27 year was "normal, when cotton could be bought in the south and futures sold in New York and other markets against it," with a "low basis."

"There was virtually no chance of loss," he said, speaking of the 1926-27 year, "provided we were in a position to tender cotton in New York to the man who bought our futures."

"Now go back to the 1925-26 year," Vinson said. "Didn't you sell that cotton (purchased under contracts preventing tender against March futures) at a loss of 60 points, $3 a bale?"

"No, sir."

Produces Bill of Sale.

"Look at your bill of sale," Vinson said, throwing a document toward the witness.

Clayton said the grade of the cotton covered by the bill of sale was involved in the price at which it sold. He started an explanation which Vinson tried to choke off. Senator Smith intervened to say that it was an "interesting point" in the cotton marketing business and the witness could proceed.

"Then I'll withdraw the question as to price," Vinson said, but Clayton was permitted to make his answer, saying the cotton was "low middling" or at a discount below the legal market basis on "middling" of 315 points.

"We were trying to find a market for low middling," he said, "and the best we can do with all our resources was 375 points off middling. If we had not put a saving clause in those sales contracts that man could have turned right around and delivered the cotton to us at 315 off. There was a great surplus of low-grade cotton and it was very hard to sell."

The only escape from accepting a loss if this cotton had been offered against futures purchased several months previously and before world cotton conditions had been fully developed, Clayton said, would have been to "pound down March futures from 50 to 60 points" on the market.

The complaint filed by Clayton with the department of agriculture against the variation of the Houston market quotation on low middling with the commercial value of the cotton entered into the examination. A government committee had investigated, Clayton said, but never made a definite report so far as he knew.

"If that margin is narrow, the farmer gets more for his low middling than if it is broad, does he not?" Vinson asked.

"Yes," Clayton agreed, but he explained that cotton could not bring more than its actual value in commerce.

CHARGES CRIMINAL FAULT IN DISASTER

"William Mulholland, Los Angeles city engineer, chose the site and the dam was rested on solid bedrock."

The dam was known as a gravity type, arched upstream and was constructed of solid concrete. It was 250 feet high and 160 feet wide at the stream level, stretching 1,225 feet along the crest.

The city of Los Angeles entered the investigation late today when by a unanimous vote the city council requested that Elwood Mead, chief of the United States reclamation service, serve as head of a committee of engineers to be employed by the city.

At the same time city council asked the American Society of Engineers, with headquarters in New York, to suggest the men most capable of acting with Mead in returning an impartial opinion of the cause of the disaster.

In announcing his inquest, Coroner Nance said someone must be criminally to blame for the loss of hundreds of lives and the probable $15,000,000 property damage which resulted when the wall of water swept 65 miles from the foothills to the Pacific ocean.

"There seems to be some basis for the statement that a large leak in the structure was reported weeks ago but no official action resulted," he added.

To Call Engineers.

Nance said engineers who constructed the great water barrier, members and employees of the power and light commission and residents of the valley who escaped the flood would be called to testify at the inquest.

Three engineers of the water and power commission went over the ground of the disaster today but made no official report of their findings.

It was said they sought to investigate the reports that a landslide had weakened the dam and at the same time form an opinion on the advisability of reconstructing the concrete barrier.

While no formal statement was made on the matter, it was freely predicted in city circles that the dam would not be rebuilt. The St. Francis dam was the second largest used to supply the city of Los Angeles with water and power.

Blames City.

C. C. Teague, head of the Santa Clara water protection district, already is on record in blaming the city of Los Angeles for the disaster.

Teague declared the dam was built without order from the state water rights commission and that its construction as well as its care was faulty.

Teague said Los Angeles should be forced to pay all resultant damages.

MISSING MINISTER LINKED IN WEDDING

found. Reports that her husband had been seen in Gainesville, Ga., last Sunday, were investigated by the church board tonight, and a picture of the pastor sent to Gainesville.

The Mrs. Eva Walker referred to is the widow of L. W. Walker, who died here last November 11.

The Walkers were members of the Central Baptist church of Waycross, and the Rev. Mr. Young preached the funeral sermon of Mr. Walker. Mrs. Walker, who is 33 years old has a daughter, 9 years of age. Efforts to reach her relatives Wednesday night were unsuccessful.

Mrs. Young explained the illness of her husband by saying he had suffered a collapse two years ago while pastor of a Columbus, Ga., church and at that time lay unconscious for three days. A recurrence threatened last month, she said, and the church arranged leave of absence in order that he might go to the Bible conference as a change of scenery.

The Youngs came to Georgia from Virginia since the world war. The Rev. Mr. Young is a native of London, England, having come to the United States 20 years ago. A daughter of the couple is in school at Columbus, Georgia.

PHONED WIFE'S SISTER HERE.

The Rev. Herbert D. Young, who has been missing mysteriously from his home in Waycross, Ga., since he left there March 1 to attend the Baptist Bible conference in Atlanta, arrived in this city March 2 and registered at a local hotel, according to a letter he is said to have written his wife.

On the day he arrived here, it was also learned from Miss Eunice McCrae, of 240 Washington street, sister-in-law of Rev. Young, he telephoned her saying that he would be out to visit Miss McCrae "the next day." He never fulfilled this announced intention, Miss McCrae said.

Miss McCrae could not be reached Wednesday night. At her Washington street residence it was said that she had left for Columbus with a sister who is ill. The Rev. Young, who is 42 years of age, has a daughter, Miss Dorothy Young, who is a student nurse in a Columbus hospital.

In the letter received by his wife shortly after he had left Waycross, the minister is said to have related his determination to visit both Miss McCrae, who is his wife's sister, and their daughter in Columbus. Neither visit was made.

According to local information the minister checked out of his hotel room on the first day he registered and went to the Y. M. C. A., where he obtained a room, but left there soon afterward without attending any of the Bible meetings being held at the Baptist Tabernacle.

Wednesday afternoon word was received in Waycross, according to dispatches, that a man answering the description of the missing preacher had been seen in Athens, Ga., last Sunday. At the request of the sender of this information, a photograph of the Rev. Young was mailed to Athens.

Close upon the heels of the Athens development came the word from Meridian that a "Rev. Herbert D. Young," who gave his age as 42 and who said he was a "former" minister of the Waycross Central Baptist church and a Mrs. E. P. Walker "of New York state, formerly of Covington, Ky.," had been granted a marriage license and had been married.

EARLIER REPORTS FROM GAINESVILLE.

Waycross, Ga., March 14.—(Special.)—Rev. H. D. Young, pastor of the Central Baptist church of Waycross, who has been missing from this city since March 3 and for whom a nation-wide search is being conducted, may have been seen in Gainesville, Ga., Sunday, according to information contained in a letter received here today.

The search is being carried to Gainesville, and today a picture of the missing minister was mailed to that city in the hope that a definite identification can be established.

The letter stated that a man answering the missing minister's description was seen in the lobby of the Dixie-Hunt hotel Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Young, wife of the minister, who collapsed Monday night when she was unable to build any satisfactory clues, felt encouraged over the report today and was able to leave her bed.

PRIEST AMONG SIX SLAIN IN MEXICO

Mexico City, March 14.—(AP)—Military authorities at San Luis Potosi announced tonight that Donaciano Villarreal, a Roman Catholic priest, and five civilians were executed at El Saucito cemetery Monday after having been found guilty by a court-martial of seditious activities.

The court-martial was of the summary type. It lasted several hours and at its conclusion the prisoners were placed in automobiles and driven direct to the cemetery. There the chief of the military garrison and other authorities were already in waiting as witnesses of the execution.

The men were backed against a wall. As the execution squad fired four fell. A second volley brought down the other two. The coup de grace was then given to each and an army physician pronounced them legally dead. The troops were paraded past the corpses as the finale of the proceedings.

Besides the priest the victims were Antonio Mendez, Angel Zamarron, Juan Grimaldo, Rafael Montoya and Guillermo Velazquez.

TEN PERSONS INJURED IN BRIDGE COLLAPSE

Schoarie, N. Y., March 14.—(AP)—Ten persons were injured, six of them seriously when the west span of a bridge across Schoharie creek collapsed here today. More than a score of persons were on the span at the time watching the extrication of an automobile truck which had broken through the bridge flooring.

The weight of the crowd was too great for the strength of the span and it buckled, plunging the spectators into six feet of water and in some instances burying them in wreckage.

SEATTLE'S WOMAN MAYOR DEFEATED FOR REELECTION

Seattle, Wash., March 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Bertha K. Landes, first woman mayor of a metropolitan city in the United States, was overwhelmingly defeated for reelection as Seattle's executive yesterday by Frank Edwards, a dark horse candidate.

The mayor-elect, who takes office in June, won after an intense campaign, which brought nearly 100,000 persons to the polls, setting a new record in Seattle's municipal elections. A majority of 19,000 votes for Edwards, a retired theater operator, surpassed expectations of his own managers.

sity, Dr. Garnett Quillian and Dr. Frank Eskridge appeared Wednesday night before the Atlanta Federation of Trades urging that body and all organized workers of Atlanta to cooperate in ending the political turmoil involving the institution and support the proposal to give control to the Atlanta Graduate School of Physicians and Surgeons. The federaiton took no action in the matter, but it was indicated that a committee would investigate the situation and submit a report at a future meeting.

A feature of the session was the installation of the newly elected officers who will serve during the next 12 months. J. Sid Tiller who began his third successive term as president of the federation delivered a brief inaugural address in which he urged all union workers to merit the respect and good will of citizens in every walk of life.

"I believe the Atlanta Federation of Trades has the respect of every fair-minded citizen in Atlanta," said Mr. Tiller, "and if we hold to the teachings of the American Federation of Labor no power on earth can keep us from going forward.

"The American labor movement teaches efficiency, honesty, equality and a fair deal to the employer as well as to the employee. A union man should be outstanding in character and workmanship, and I believe that a great majority of the union men in Atlanta are of that type."

Threat of Rain Seen for Today By WeatherMan

The possibility of a bit of rain today was seen Wednesday by C. F. von Hermann, United States meteorologist, who said that the sky will be cloudy this morning, but will probably clear up during the afternoon. Temperatures today will range slightly below those of Wednesday.

Mr. von Herrmann expects a minimum of 45 this morning and a maximum of 65 this afternoon, as compared with the temperatures of from 52 to 66 of Wednesday. Speaking of the general cloudiness all over the country which has caused extreme woe in the form of static to radio fans during the past week or so, Mr. von Herrmann said that he believes the condition will clear up in a few days.

All that is needed is a bit of wind to move the cloudiness away, and this should be at hand before long, the weather man said.

BYRD'S ANTARCTIC PLANE TO MAKE TEST HOP TODAY

St. Albans, Vt., March 14.—(United News.)—The Bellanca plane J-5, one of three which Commander Richard E. Byrd will take to the Antarctic regions will be flown to Grand Anse, Quebec, tomorrow for a test flight.

This was announced tonight by Floyd Bennett, pilot, who explained the test of the plane's operations on skiis, contemplated for today on Lake Champlain, was thwarted by a sudden thaw which made the ice unsafe for a take-off.

Accompanied by B. J. Wetherly, a Wright motor expert; Tom B. Mulroy, chief engineer, and Bernt Balchen, relief pilot, came here today from Ticonderoga, N. Y., where they landed yesterday.

The proposal was sponsored by Representative Anderson, republican, Minnesota. It also would provide that the federal farm board could loan money to such corporations on the same basis as the cooperatives themselves. The proposed corporations would be governed by the laws of the respective states in which they were created.

Death of Woman Laid To Husband In Servant's Tale

Livingston, Ala., March 14.—(AP)—Perry Boatman, negro servant in the home of D. A. McDonald, a farmer living near here, today told Sumter county officials that McDonald shot his wife to death the night of February 29.

The woman was found early March 1 lying beside a roadway 300 yards from her home with a bullet wound in her head. McDonald told police she had been walking in her sleep and police first advanced the theory she had been shot by a nervous motorist who may have "taken her for a ghost."

McDonald has been placed under arrest. Boatman and Henry Altman, negro, and the latter's wife also are being held in connection with the woman's death.

Boatman said he was in the kitchen of the McDonald home when he heard a shot fired in Mrs. McDonald's bedroom. Soon thereafter McDonald came out and said: "She is dead."

Boatman said McDonald and all three of the negroes then moved the body of the woman to the roadway, where it was found the next morning by a searching party who had been notified of the woman's absence by her husband.

A preliminary hearing for McDonald will be held tomorrow morning. J. A. Mitchell, county solicitor, said, at which time details of the alleged confession by the negro will be made public.

LEVINE AND PILOT AT JACKSONVILLE WITHOUT MISS BOLL

Jacksonville, Fla., March 14.—(United News.)—Charles Levine and Wilmer Stultz arrived here in the Bellanca plane Columbia at 6:05 p. m. today from Palm Beach. They were not accompanied by Miss Mabel Boll, who flew with them from New York to Havana and back to Palm Beach.

Perfect flying conditions were encountered on the flight up the coast, Levine said.

Levine said he expected to remain here until he received weather reports of the coast between Jacksonville and Charleston, S. C., his next stop.

It was understood Miss Boll would joint him here Thursday morning to continue the flight to New York.

WITNESSES CLAIM GIRL WAS DRINKING

Columbiana, Ala., March 14.—(AP)—In its first attempts to prove Police Chief H. F. Blake, of Calera, Ala., innocent of the shooting of Miss Louise Monteabaro, the defense today introduced testimony that the girl had been drinking before she started the automobile trip to Birmingham that ended fatally.

Mrs. Myrtle Veazey, who lives on a farm bordering the highway where the girl was shot to death, said Miss Monteabaro's car was weaving from side to side as it sped down the roadway with Blake and Officer W. D. Farmer in pursuit.

She said she heard two shots fired, the first during the chase and the second after the officers had overtaken the girl, turned her automobile around, and started back to Calera. This part of her testimony coincided with the story of the shooting told by Blake and Farmer, who contended the girl committed suicide after they arrested her for reckless driving.

A Calera waitress testified Miss Monteabaro made unprintable remarks in the cafe where she was employed and the proprietor of the restaurant said the girl offered him a drink of whisky.

A Calera merchant testified he took a drink from a bottle which Miss Monteabaro took from her automobile and brought into his store.

Another witness testified the girl came into the cafe shortly before she started for Birmingham, bantered with the two officers and said to Farmer: "Speedy, where's your big gun?" State witnesses previously had testified the two officers discussed the girl improperly while she was making a purchase in the cafe.

L. H. Ellis, chief of counsel for defense, indicated firearms experts may be called to the stand tomorrow or Friday to combat evidence given by the state that the girl had been shot with a .38-caliber pistol instead of the small pistol of .32-caliber which she carried.

The case was heard and the verdict returned in little more than three hours in Morgan county circuit court today.

She was at the resort with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Merrill, who will take the body to Portland tomorrow.

HOPE FOR ATLANTIC FLIERS ABOUT GONE

of reports of a plane passing apparently southward over points along the north Atlantic coast.

Lieutenant R. I. Hagen, officer of the day on duty at the field, ordered the lights turned on following reports from the United News as a "safety measure," should the plane, believed to be the Hinchliffe-Mackay plane, become confused and continue southward.

PHILADELPHIA STILL WAITING.

Philadelphia, March 14.—(AP)—As midnight passed without definite word from Captain Hinchliffe and Honorable Elsie Mackay, belief was expressed at the Philadelphia airport, the goal of the British fliers, that the airplane reported heard over New England cities and later at Atlantic City, N. J., was not the Endeavour.

The report from Atlantic City gave the time a plane was believed to have been heard in that vicinity at 11:20 p. m. by airline from there to Philadelphia is about 50 miles and the plane, if it was Hinchliffe's machine, should have reached here before midnight.

There still was an air of expectancy at the airport, for it was figured from the time a plane was reported heard in Boston it would be unable to reach Philadelphia until about 1:30 a. m.

REPORTED HEARD AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 14.—(AP)—A large plane was reported heard flying over Northfield, near here toward Philadelphia at 11:20 p. m.

E. N. Wells, of Northfield, reported that he had heard the "big" plane flying over Northfield, apparently heading in the direction of Mays Landing, which would be in the direction of Philadelphia.

Mr. Wells said that he connected the mystery plane with the Hinchliffe flight because he had heard radio reports of the progress of a southbound plane over New England.

NEW ENGLAND HEARS HUM OF MOTOR.

Boston, Mass., March 14.—(United News.)—The drone of the motor of an airplane, flying south over New England tonight created intense excitement. Hundreds of telephone calls were made to newspapers and news agencies shortly after 9 p. m.

The east Boston airport reported hearing an airplane motor shortly after 9:30 p. m. Flares were set out, but no plane landed.

United News representatives in Portsmouth, N. H., Salem, Swampscott and Lynn, Mass., reported hearing a plane pass over those cities.

The plane was first heard over Portsmouth at 7:50 p. m. and shortly after 9 p. m. was heard to pass over Salem and then Lynn.

The plane could not be seen at any of the points which reported hearing it because of the darkness.

OVER CAPE COD AT 10 P. M.

New London, Conn., March 14.—(United News.)—The United States submarine base here tonight received a radio message saying that an unidentified airplane passed over Cape Cod, Mass., at 10 p. m. headed southward.

HAD GASOLINE FOR FIFTY HOURS.

London, March 14.—(AP)—Captain Walter G. Hinchliffe and Hon. Elsie Mackay intended to fly to Philadelphia when they left Cranwell airdome Tuesday morning. They carried enough petrol for fifty hours of flight. This was revealed tonight by Major Goddon Sinclair, Hinchliffe's friend, who at the last moment gave up his seat in the plane to Miss Mackay.

Miss Mackay was smiling as the plane rose and seemed not in the least worried about the outcome of the flight. She sat beside Captain Hinchliffe, thus being able to help him either by flying the machine or by transferring gasoline to the main tanks.

Major Sinclair said his only reason for "lying low" and not earlier revealing the identity of the occupants of the plane was to keep his promise to Miss Mackay to maintain secrecy until the flight was over. He said that she did not wish to worry her parents, who are in Egypt.

"It was only a couple of hours before the Endeavor started that Miss Mackay finally decided to fly," continued Major Sinclair. "I had been working for a fortnight to get the plane ready and was so busy at that task that I did not take much notice of the repeated conferences which Miss Mackay had with Captain Hinchliffe.

"We were up all night Monday completing the preparations and suddenly at 2 a. m. Tuesday I was told that I was not going.

"Captain Hinchliffe, Miss Mackay, her friend, Miss Ries, and myself left the Hotel George at Grantham about 4 a. m. in Miss Mackay's car. As soon as we reached the airdrome the Endeavor was wheeled out, the engine was started and Hinchliffe and Miss Mackay climbed into the machine.

"I had made the plane completely ready so there was nothing left for them to do but to take off. I shook hands with both of them and wished them luck.

"The next thing I remember I was waving cheerily to the Endeavor as it became a smaller and smaller spot upon the horizon. That was the last I saw of them.

"Now we are waiting anxiously, but I am full of hope.

"Hinchliffe told me many times that he would make Philadelphia, if possible, and I think it quite likely that the Endeavor slipped past the watchers at New Foundland in the fog. There was enough petrol to last 50 hours, so he may still be flying."

The secretive movements of the flight party were ferreted out just previous to Major Sinclair's sudden reappearance. A hint that he would soon be seen was given by Harry Lloyd, English agent for Hinchcliffe. Then word came from hotel employees at Grantham that the major had been there several hours after the flight started in company with Miss Mackay's friend.

Miss Mackay's automobile with two chauffeurs, brought Miss Ries back to London with baggage, and other belongings of the advepturers. Captain Hinchliffe's portion of this property was delivered to his house at Purley this evening by another car from Miss Mackay's city home.

Newspaper investigators at Cranwell learned that for a fortnight Miss Mackay had been staying at the George hotel in Grantham. She hid her identity, but accompanied Hinchliffe on every test flight previous to the actual start.

Several close relatives of Miss Mackay visited the hotel and tried vainly to dissuade her from accompanying Hinchliffe. Once she went back to London, but she returned the same day and resumed her test flights.

MAKER OF PLANE HAS LITTLE HOPE.

Detroit, March 14.—(AP)—Edward A. Stinson, president of the Stinson Aircraft corporation and manufacturer of the airplane in which Captain Walter Hinchliffe, British flier, took off from England yesterday on a supposed trans-Atlantic flight, was pessimistic tonight regarding the safety of the flier.

"It is a little early to attempt a trans-Atlantic flight," he said, "and Hinchliffe undoubtedly will find weather conditions very trying. He should have been sighted somewhere, although the fact that he has not been sighted over Newfoundland means but little, since he might have found it advisable to fly north or south of that country."

George Haldeman, who piloted a Stinson monoplane in an unsuccessful eastward flight over the Atlantic, expressed the "hope" that the pilot would accomplish his aim. "I am looking forward to hearing of his landing at any moment," he said. "I not only hope that he will get to land safely, but I feel that he will."

Other aeronautical engineers and pilots here held little hope that the flight would be completed successfully, declaring the season unfavorable to such a long flight westward.

SHOALS INTEREST SHIFTS TO HOUSE

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—For the first time in weeks interest in Muscle Shoals legislation today centered solely in the house as its military affairs committee continued hearings on a bill to dispose of the property.

Chairman Morin of the committee, author of the measure it now is considering, declined to comment on the passage by the senate of the Norris resolution until the measure has been received by his committee. The Norris resolution, providing for government operation of the power plant and the experimental development of the fertilizer manufacturing facilities, is similar in many respects to the Morin bill.

However, members of the cyanamid group on the committee still feel that action should be taken on the Madden bill to lease the property to the American Cyanamid company.

FIVE WISCONSIN TOWNS ISOLATED AS DAM BURSTS

Prairie-du-Chien, Wis., March 14. (United News.)—Bursting of a power dam at Lafarge sent a flood of water through southwestern Wisconsin and virtually isolated five towns in this territory today. A heavy ice jam caused the dam to give way. A rise in both the Wisconsin and Mississippi rivers was noted here.

Water crept over the tracks in the affected area and disrupted railroad service. At some points ferry service still was being maintained for contact with the outside world.

Richland Center, Soldiers Grove, Gays Mills, Wauzeka and Benton were virtually isolated by the flood waters.

Enrollment For The Spring Term Begins Around At The Southern Business College

Accredited by the National Association, Young People Are More Anxious Than Ever To Be Trained by the Southern.

You've got to take a business course if you expect to enter the commercial world and secure a worth-while position.

This being the case, the next important step is the selection of a real good business school—a school which has been accredited by the "National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools," the highest authority on Business Education, because then you may know that you would receive the best training possible, that your best interests would be served.

Since the Southern Shorthand and Business University has been accredited by the "National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools," and received as a member into that notable organization, young people in all parts of the country are more anxious than ever before to obtain their business education at this well-known school, and new pupils are enrolling every day for training.

Besides, now is the time to begin preparation for fall positions. The Spring term will be organizing during the next several days. Young people, therefore, who want to obtain positions during the fall, should enroll just as soon as possible in order to be ready.

Call, phone or write for catalog and begin training at the Southern, the school which has been accredited by the National Association.

We drive or ride in more than 22,000,000 motor vehicles.

We pack the paved highways coming in and out of town. We over-run even so-called remote regions. And we are pounding to pieces all but permanent roads.

This year probably 3,000,000 new cars will be on the road. Compared to this increase, the mileage of new permanent roads will be insignificant.

We don't want to be a nation on wheels, with no place to go.

The answer is, build more, and where necessary, wider concrete roads and streets —and start building them now.

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building.

SYNOPSIS.

Esther Rowe, a young nurse, having accompanied an invalid from the United States to Cannes on the Riviera, is about to return to New York, when she sees an advertisement in the paper for a nurse and doctor's assistant, and she decides to apply for the job in order to spend a little time in Cannes.

While waiting for an answer to her application to Dr. Sartorius, Esther treats herself to tea at the fashionable Restaurant des Ambassadeurs. She becomes interested in the conversation of a beautiful French woman and her escort, an Englishman, who sit at the next table. On returning to her hotel Esther finds a note from the doctor asking her to report in the morning.

The beautiful French woman of the restaurant comes to see Dr. Sartorius, and Esther learns that she is Lady Clifford. A few days later her husband, Sir Charles Clifford, is stricken with typhoid fever and Dr. Sartorius gives up his practice and laboratory work to devote himself exclusively to Sir Charles. Esther is taken on the case as day nurse.

Roger Clifford, Sir Charles' only son, arrives in Cannes. Sir Charles tells his son that he has changed his will to the extent of making him executor and trustee of the whole estate. Roger is attracted to Esther and invites her to dine and dance with him. They go to one of the fashionable restaurants in Cannes.

On returning to the house Roger comes upon his stepmother in the darkened drawing room with Arthur Holliday, who has been paying Lady Clifford some attention. Roger orders Holliday to leave the house.

The next day Sir Charles breaks the news to his wife that he has named his son executor of his estate in his will. Lady Clifford flies into a rage.

Shortly afterwards Roger complains of a headache and his aunt, Miss Clifford, offers him one of her remedies. In trying to open the bottle Roger breaks it and cuts his hand. Esther is called in to bind up the cut and in her hurry she mislays the doctor's hypodermic needle.

INSTALLMENT XL.
A HOPELESS CASE.

Esther was too disturbed even to shrink from the duty of informing Sartorius, there was no room in her mind now for personal animus. She found the doctor in his own room, a medical journal on his knee and an untidy ash tray beside him, together with a cup of strong Indian tea. He received her information stolidly, only his small eyes quickened to attention as without comment he rose and followed her.

The ill man submitted almost without noticing to the doctor's examination. There was not the slightest doubt that he had taken a serious turn for the worse. Presently when the doctor had completed his investigation, he summoned Esther to the other end of the room with a brusque movement of the head.

"Have you any idea of what may have caused this?" he asked in a low voice.

"Not the slightest, doctor. I simply can't imagine!"

"Then I can."

She looked up at him puzzled. What did he mean?

"You know what I said to you this morning," he continued deliberately, but looking away from her. "On the matter of your unprofessional behavior. Perhaps this will be a proof to you how serious the matter was."

"What on earth do you mean?"

"I mean that in shouting out the word 'accident' as you did and then dashing out of the room, you may easily have caused Sir Charles a shock which in his condition was sufficient to bring on this relapse. From your manner he may have thought some really grave catastrophe had overtaken his son. It is quite possible that you are directly responsible for his state now."

She stared at him utterly speechless. When she found her voice she spoke evenly with perfect self-control.

"I think, doctor, you will have a hard job of it trying to pin this on me," she replied, and left him.

She knew that his eyes followed her, and that during the rest of the afternoon he glanced at her often, as if he did not know how to construe her momentary defiance, but she was indifferent to what he thought. She knew that this late he would not risk a change of nurses, and that was enough for her. Her whole concern was for her patient.

Before evening every one was aware that Sir Charles, whom they had believed to be out of danger, had suffered a severe relapse. Depression lay like a pall on the household, Lady Clifford fidgeted about from one room to another aimlessly, Roger smoked endless cigarettes.

When tired and dispirited she went to her room that night she fancied, on opening the door, that a faint odor of tobacco greeted her—the doctor's strong Algerian tobacco.

"That wretched man is getting on my nerves," she murmured under her breath. "I couldn't possibly smell cigarette smoke here, the door has been closed all day."

A moment later she stood still in front of the dressing table, her eyes running over its contents. Was everything as she had left it? The maid never touched anything after she did the room in the morning, yet somehow the various boxes and bottles, trays and so on had an altered appearance. Her quick eye roamed around. On the table was her first-aid case, where she had put it down this morning. She opened it and looked inside. She could not absolutely swear things were different, and yet——. She turned and surveyed the whole room, then one by one pulled open the drawers in the commode. Here and there she felt sure some object had been touched and disarranged. If she had not been an orderly person she might not have noticed. Last she opened her shopping bag. She found the metal cover of her lip stick off, and a streak of red on the lining of the bag. Then she felt certain. There was nothing missing, yet she was convinced that some one had been ransacking her belongings pretty thoroughly. One of the maids, perhaps, out of idle curiosity. It didn't interest her much.

"What on earth does it matter?" she sighed indifferently, and then she remembered the tobacco smoke. She remained motionless for a full minute, her brow knitted in puzzled thought. Then with a shake of the head she slowly undressed.

Sir Charles' relapse proved as serious as it was unexpected. Within twenty-four hours he was in a condition bordering on coma. Arrangements were hurriedly made for a consultation of physicians to be held the following day, it being Lady Clifford's wish that no stone should be left unturned in the effort to save her husband. However, every one realized now that the consultation would be a mere formality, there was scarcely any possibility of stemming the tide, all had been done that could be done. Yet Therese's zeal was not without its effect on both her sister-in-law and her stepson.

"No one can say she hasn't done her best for the poor old boy," Roger confided in a subdued tone to Esther. "He's had every chance. I suppose there's no hope whatever?"

"It would be wrong for me to tell you there was. You know what happens at this stage of typhoid——" and she went on to describe the condition that now prevailed.

"It's the suddenness I can't get over," Roger said for the sixth time.

"Nor I."

Then she spoke impulsively, "Roger—do you mind? I'd like to take your temperature."

"Mine? What for?"

"Don't be cross, I really think I'd better."

"O, all right, go ahead."

A moment later when she was in the act of counting his pulse and while the thermometer was sticking out of his mouth, Lady Clifford entered, followed by her sister-in-law, the latter looking tired and much older. Both women looked on with interest and concern.

"Miss Rowe—you don't think——?

"It is up a little," Esther admitted, holding the thermometer to the light. "Just a hundred. I thought so last night. It isn't much of course."

"My dear," Therese said gently to Roger, going up to him and putting her hand on his shoulder, "I had the same symptoms that you had—the same that poor Charles had. This is a dreadful epidemic, no one is safe! But look at me—I escaped it, I am perfectly well. Why? Because I took the anti-toxin."

Roger turned to Esther.

"What do you think about it, Miss Rowe?" he asked. "Would you have it if you were I?"

"The anti-toxin? O—that is something you must decide."

"Well," remarked Roger, rising. "You women may think what you like, but there's one thing I never have been able to stand the thought of, and that is having a needle stuck into me."

He left the room to avoid argument.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Great Excitement in the Old Orchard.

The robin and the bluebird bring
—Old Mother Nature.

Gentle Sister South Wind had swept away the snow from the Green Meadows and the Old Orchard. Jack Frost still came of nights, but he hurried away and hid every morning when jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun began his daily climp up in the blue, blue sky. Yes, sir, Jack Frost hid then and he remained hidden all day. He didn't come out again until after the Black Shadows had taken possession of the Green Meadows, the Old Orchard and the Green Forest.

So Peter Rabbit and all his friends of the winter knew the sweet Mistress Spring would soon arrive and their hearts were filled with happiness. They knew that she was coming up from the Sunny South and they knew that just ahead of her would be certain feathered messengers to bring them the news that she would soon arrive. So every morning Peter Rabbit spent a great deal of time just looking and listening. It was the same way with the other little people, especially the little people up in the Old Orchard. They would stop in the middle of something they happened to be doing to look and listen. Why were they looking and listening? They were looking and listening for the return of old friends who had been a long time away.

It was Peter Rabbit's long ears that first heard the sound that all had been listening for. Peter was up at the Old Orchard. He should have been at home in the dear Old Briar-patch, but these days he was so uneasy he couldn't stay in any one place long, certainly not in the dear Old Briar-patch. So on this particular morning, instead of returning home as he should have done, he decided to spend the day on the edge of the Old Orchard. He felt that it was perfectly safe there because, you know, he has some wonderful holes underneath the old stone wall. So it was that Peter was sitting with his long ears pointed straight up at the blue, blue sky as he listened to the chitter-chatter of Tommy Tit the Chickadee, Sammy Jay, Dotty the Tree Sparrow, Slaty the Junco, Speckles the Starling, Happy Jack Squirrel, Chatterer the Red Squirrel and Striped Chipmunk. Suddenly those long ears of his caught the faintest, softest, sweetest of whistles. A queer little tingling feeling went all over Peter. He did his very best to shut out all the other sounds and strained his ears for that whistle again. There it was! It was a little clearer this time. But just where it came from Peter couldn't tell for the life of him. It came from nowhere in particular. It sounded as if it might come from a place quite near and it sounded as if it might come from a place far away.

"Listen!" cried Peter, and there was excitement in his voice.

Peter thumped. Everybody stopped talking to see what Peter was thumping for. "Listen!" cried Peter, and there was excitement in his voice. "Listen!"

Everybody listened. They listened and they listened, and there was great expectancy on all their faces. But they listened in vain. "Pooh!" exclaimed Sammy Jay. "Peter imagines he's hearing things. He" . . .

Sammy didn't finish. Everybody heard it that time. Instantly there was great excitement all through the Old Orchard. Yes, sir, there was great excitement.

"Winsome Bluebird!" cried all together. "Winsome Bluebird has come. That means that sweet Mistress Spring is surely on her way."

Then everybody began looking for Winsome Bluebird. They could hear that sweet, plaintive whistle, but they couldn't find the whistler. They looked here, they looked there. Finally it was the sharp eyes of Sammy Jay that discovered a bird high up in an elm tree in front of Farmer Brown's house. Sammy flew over there at once. When he returned Winsome Bluebird was with him. Then the excitement in the Old Orchard was greater than ever.

Mrs. Erwin Discusses March Planting Before Garden Club

Mrs. Thomas C. Erwin is a very ardent horticulturist, and considered quite an authority on any subject pertaining to gardening and flowers. She is a prominent member of the Peachtree Garden club, and as a March paper, prepared and read before this organization, she stressed valuable points which will aid those Atlantans planning to plant flowers during this month. She says:

"March may come in like a lion but don't be discouraged It goes out like a lamb. It is the promise month; no matter how hard the wind blows or how the mercury falls, there is a hint of spring in the air and gardening time is almost here. There is much to do this month. Next month there will be three times as much, for April is about the busiest month of the year, so try to do everything possible during March in order not to be completely swamped in April. Clean up the garden, burning any crop remnants from last year in order to kill whatever insect pests may have wintered over. Box and privet hedges should be trimmed before beginning to grow. Take a good look at the privet to see if it has scale and spray it with lime sulphur, one pound to five gallons of water if done now, twice the quantity of water if done in warm weather.

Work On Lawn.

"Work on the lawn should be done this month. Seed the bare spots, giving a dressing of sheep manure and bone meal. Dig out the dandelions, wild onions and other weeds; it is easier to do now than later. All shrubs should be pruned after blooming but never in spring before they bloom. Lilacs get their pruning when the flowers are picked, as is the case with many other shrubs. Have trees trimmed and dead wood taken out and cement put in if needed. Work bone meal and sheep manure in your perennial border; divide your perennials as soon as possible; plelox should be divided every three years. There are many beautiful poppies advertised in the seed catalogs. Sow them now. Have the ground prepared and rake the seed in lightly. Plant gladiolus bulbs as soon as the ground can be worked and for a succession plant every two weeks until June 1. If gardeners want to plant the bulblets these should be kept in damp sand a month before planting or soak them for 24 hours. Keeping same in sand is said to be best. Some lilies can still be planted. Regal speciosum, tiger, auratum and several others. If roses have not been pruned do it now and finish planting any new ones as soon as possible. Branches of pussy willow can be rooted. It takes only about three weeks in either water or sand, and bloom when flowers are scarce and look very pretty in the house. I cut mine about three weeks ago, before any bloom showed, thinking they would open quickly in the house. Two weeks went by without a sign of their coming out. I had about given up hope. I took off the hard, brown skin; it worked like magic and in two days they were beautiful.

"I have heard a number of the garden club members complain of moles eating up things, especially tulips, so I am going to tell you what one woman did and completely got rid of them. Mix three parts of cornmeal and one part hellebore; push a stick into the moles' runway, drop 1-2 teaspoon of the bait into it and place a small stone over the opening so as to hide the light. Do this every three feet. Look over your garden tools to see whether in good condition or not.

Hydrangeas Grow Readily.

"Hydrangeas will be growing readily now and cuttings can be rooted earily in wet sand. Try growing a few standards, such as geraniums, fuchias, heliotropes, lantannas, plumbago all are easily grown that way and grow tall quickly if slightly pot bound. Always keep the stake firm so that it holds the standard and not the standard holding the stake, feed with liquid manure and cultivate the pot frequently. Opinions vary as to when to start seeds and as to whether one gains anything by starting them in the house or in a cold frame. To my way of thinking the early start is well worth while. We want lots of plants from each one of you for the plant sale, so start them now if you have not already done so. Remember that gardens are alone the places on this earth most worth the space occupied."

DIET AND HEALTH

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

WATER DRINKING.

It used to be believed that water drinking with meals would retard digestion, but that has been disproved. Unless the water is used to wash down food that is insufficiently masticated, it is an aid to digestion, or at least produces no undesirable effect.

Water is necessary for all of the body fluids, and is a part of every cell in the body. Two-thirds of the body weight is made up of water. It holds the mineral salts and building materials in solution until they are deposited where they are needed; and it carries away waste products.

If sufficient water isn't taken, there is a dessication or drying in the various organs and tissues, and even the blood may become more concentrated than is compatible with good health.

Of course, we get water from our foods which have different proportions of water in them, and we get a large share from our beverages—tea, coffee, cocoa, milk—but there is also need for more water than is obtained in this manner.

Marriott has emphasized that this dehydration of the blood to even a slight degree results in the impairment of the circulation, and as a result, a secondary functional disturbance in almost every part of the body. This concentration is especially liable to occur in babies. Babies and children have more need for water even than adults, for their bodies contain more water in proportion to their weight, and a restriction of water will hinder their growth and development. "I want a drink" is perhaps the most familiar demand of childhood, and it has a big physiological need as a basis. We'll have to allow our children to be heavy drinkers.

You've heard the story of the little girl whose mother, thinking that the child's demand for a drink during the night was a whim, threatened to spank her if she asked for it again. The little girl waited for a while, and then cried, "Mama, when you get up to spank me, will you get me a drink?" That's pathetic, isn't it?

In certain conditions where much water has left the body, as in vomiting and diarrhea, and excessive perspiration, the water intake must be much increased. Underhill, in an address before the New York section of the American Chemical society, brought out the fact that anhydremia (lessened water in the blood), which is caused by water deprivation, is quickly restored to normal condition by drinking water; but that the anhydremia from conditions in which the blood vessels are injured so that an undue proportion of the water seeps through is more difficult to remedy. In case of severe burns, for example, the vessels are seriously involved in this way and efforts to restore the proper blood concentration must be persistent and prolonged, and fluids must be taken continuously, until the blood capillaries injured in the skin by the burn have had time to repair themselves.

I'm giving you incidents of abnormal conditions simply to emphasize your normal need for a goodly amount of good, fresh water every day. There are many who need to cultivate the habit of water drinking. Probably, like all measures, this can be overdone, but this is rare. We'll say at least three or four glasses of water between meals should be a daily habit. Many find that two glasses of water before breakfast has a stimulating effect on the bowels, and they are much less liable to constipation. I'll advise those who are inclined to undereat, however, not to drink immediately before a meal, or to take too much water with the meals. The overweighters needn't heed this advice; in fact, a good drink of water before meals will help to fill the void so not quite so much food is demanded. I allow my reducing followers to drink all the water they want. Water is not fattening, in the sense we use that term.

Bride, Banished As Alien, Seeks U. S. Admission

New Orleans, La., March 14.—(AP) Helen Stoma, pretty young Syrian woman who, a year ago, was deported from the United States as an "undesirable alien," is returning to New Orleans, the wife of an American citizen, with the hope that immigration officials will sanction her admission. She is a passenger aboard the Munson liner Munamar, due to dock from Havana tomorrow.

Joseph Stoma, Deridder, La., merchant, who married her shortly after her arrival from Syria in 1921, will meet her at the dock. Stoma recently was naturalized as an American citizen, which his attorneys claim entitles his wife to entrance into the United States.

Working her way from Syria to New Orleans in 1921, Helen Stoma was refused entrance into New Orleans as an immigrant, but immigration officers permitted her to visit Stoma, a distant cousin, at Deridder, under bond. Later they married and a child, George Washington Stoma, was born. He is now 4 years of ago and is returning with his mother.

The legal fight for deportation started shortly after the marriage.

HARD TO COMPLETE JURY IN MURDER TRIAL AT RICHMOND

Richmond, Va., March 14.—(AP)—Another venire of 150 Richmond residents has been summoned to report tomorrow in the second trial of John W. Faison, club manager, who is charged with murdering Mrs. Elsie Holt Snipes, 31-year-old Princeton, N. C., woman, who was his extra marital sweetheart.

So far 11 prospective jurors have been obtained from venires totaling 231 Richmond residents. A panel of 20 is necessary before a jury can be drawn. Six tentative jurors were obtained yesterday and five today.

Faison continued to take great interest in the selection of jurors and smoked cigarettes cheerfully during the recesses. He contends Mrs. Snipes killed herself when he announced to her that he was going back to his wife and five children. The prosecution maintains Faison shot Mrs. Snipes in a jealous rage.

Miss Spalding Gives 'News Reel' Tea At Piedmont Club

Marking a distinct innovation in social affairs was the "news reel" tea at which Miss Anne Spalding, popular debutante of the season and well known stylist at Muse's, was hostess Wednesday at the Piedmont Driving club. The lovely affair assembled a small group of the younger social contingent, and following tea, movies were made of the guests, wearing the latest models in fashionable costumes for which Muse is famous, topped by smart hats from the Gary salon. The film was made on the shrubbery bordered terrace which formed an effective background for the pictures.

These films will be shown at the Howard theater all next week, announcing the gorgeous fashion revue de luxe which will feature the Howard program for the week of April 2, the revue to be sponsored by Muse's and all costumes to be furnished by Muse's ready-to-wear department.

The lovely young hostess wore for the occasion a smart ensemble costume of biege crepe, with deep cuffs of lustrous flat black fur. Completing her costume was a becoming Gary hat of biege straw, which was untrimmed.

Covers were placed for Misses Mary Harvey, Ann Kessnich, Elizabeth Spalding, Helen Noble, Julia Meador and Anne Spalding.

Michigan City, Ind., March 14.—(AP)—Inquest into the death of Richard Bohle, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bohle, whose two small children died recently following peculiar illnesses, was held today with the chief evidence appearing in the form of a chemist's report that no traces of poison were found in the boy's body.

Coroner Charles Mayfield, although withholding a verdict, said in his opinion there was no evidence of murder or intent to murder, but delayed a ruling pending the outcome of the illness of William Sims, uncle of the Bohle children, who is now suffering from a similar malady.

ROBERT E. LEE CAPTAIN ADMITS WRECK BLAME

Boston, March 14.—(United News.) Admitting that the steamer Robert E. Lee was about one and one-half miles off course and that she was traveling at 16 1-2 knots when she went aground on Mary Ann Ledge in last Friday's storm, Captain Harland W. Robinson today assumed all blame for the wreck.

Testifying before a board of federal steamship inspectors, Robinson admitted that while his course was usually three-quarters of a mile outside of the Mary Ann gas buoy, his vessel passed three quarters of a mile inside.

"Why were you off your course?" Captain Herman T. Barker, one of the inspectors asked.

"I can't understand how I got in that far," replied Captain Robinson. He denied newspaper stories that his compass was in error.

"Did you throw the lead?" he was asked in reference to the taking of soundings for depth.

He replied he did not because he didn't think it was necessary.

On further questioning, Robinson testified that the visibility was one mile on the night of the accident in which the lives of more than 300 persons were imperiled.

Spiller Speeds Up Negotiations for Securing West

Doug Wycoff To Try Out With Senators

Cueto Bought

Tampa, Fla., March 14—(AP)—Manuel Cueto, shortstop for the Atlanta club of the Southern association, was purchased today by H. E. Wolfe, owner of the Tampa Krewe in the Southeastern league, it was announced here. Cueto will report to the Tampa club, now in training at St. Augustine.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

Telegraph wires are being given an intensive workout by Colonel R. J. Spiller, of Atlanta's Crackers. The colonel is seeking Max West, pounding outfielder with Waco, of the Texas league, last year.

Something like two weeks ago Mr. Spiller opened negotiations with the Waco club regarding the price tagged on West, and as yet has heard nothing. Colonel Spiller, however, is becoming more and more convinced that West would make a valuable, almost necessary, addition to the club.

Please do not get Max West confused with Sammy West. Sammy West was with Birmingham in 1926, went to Washington in the fall of that year, and is now endeavoring to fill the spot left vacant by the departure of Tris Speaker to the Athletics.

Desirable.

Max West, while with Waco last season, piled up the healthy batting average of .366 and is the hard-hitting left-handed batter that the Crackers are seeking. Waco finished well near the top in the Texas league race of 1927, which was won by Wichita Falls.

Meanwhile, training proceeds as usual at the dell. Following Tuesday's practice game, Skipper Niehoff sent his squad through a light drill which included pepper games, batting and infield practice.

No move has been made yet toward shifting Frankie Zoeller to second base. In fact, it might be that the Crackers are planning on carrying Frankie along as an extra outfielder in case they get West. Billy Rhiel will be here after Brooklyn passes through on the way north. And an outfield composed of West, Strang and Rhiel would be imposing. Each one of the trio can clout the ball at an average of .350 or more. And in these days it takes a man who can hit that high to play outfield.

Fair Weather.

Wednesday afternoon the squad worked out under a bright sun, and on a field that was fast drying up from the rains of the past three or four days. With fair weather continuing and the two-game exhibition series with Tech opening Friday, the skipper expects to put on another regular-yannigan affair this afternoon. It will be the second practice game of the season for the players.

All plans of the Crackers for the securing of Doug Wycoff, former Tech football and baseball luminary, were called off abruptly by the announcement Wednesday that Wycoff was off for Tampa to try out with the Washington Senators. Colonel Spiller had entertained the idea of securing Wycoff for some time. Wycoff's regular position is first base, but on account of his hitting proclivities he could have played outfield. Wycoff has not yet signed a Washington contract. That depends on the showing he makes at training camp.

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

Whither Are We Drifting?

The somewhat sour look upon the faces of about 3,700,000 male golfers a short while back was quite noticeable.

The first glum look appeared when it was announced, via the daily sporting pages, that Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn, of Kansas, had turned in a 74 in the qualifying round over the Monterey course, Pebble Beach, Calif.

The increasing glumness that followed was due to the announcement from St. Augustine, Fla., that Glenna Collett had just turned in another 74 in her qualifying round over that excellent course.

One feminine 74 might be an accident. But two within a week seemed to verge on a habit.

You can't blame these 3,700,000 male golfers, many of them weighing 200 pounds, minus a niblick, from turning on salty tears after two rather slender young ladies hand in 74s with a partly stifled yawn.

What good does it do a brawny male, maybe an ex-football player or a heavyweight champion, to start chirping about his 84s?

On Breaking 70.

Will a woman player ever break 70 over a standard course? It is only a matter of time, plus a little luck.

It is only in the last few years that the O. S. (code for Other or Opposite Sex) has been swarming into organized competition. Now they are all over golf courses, tennis courts, swimming pools, hockey fields, track meets and the rest of it. And each year more good ones step along, with the average picking up season after season. They are beginning to come into an inheritance which those of another generation missed.

How many male entries are there who can beat Helen Wills or Suzanne Lenglen at tennis—or Joyce Weathered, Glenna Collett, Virginia Van Wie or Cecil Leitch at golf?

Not enough to make up a regiment, however you may figure it.

The Yankee Outlook.

Professor Clark Griffith, of Washington, says the Yankees are far from being a pennant cinch. He figures overconfidence one factor against them, and the break of luck that often turns against a two-time winner.

The overconfidence part isn't so likely with $300,000 worth of world series money waiting in October.

A bad break of luck is another matter. Especially if the same fell upon the broad neck of George Herman Ruth, or even Lou Gehrig, or even Herb Pennock.

The Cubs of 1909 were beaten. So were the Athletics of 1912. And when the first sniff of young April came across the world these two teams were as invincible in their day as the Yankees are now. Each had won two pennants in a row by wide margins.

Yes, it can happen. But the burden of proof is on Mr. Griffith or Mr. Mack.

Today's Golf Menu.

"Can a man sway and play good golf?" writes L. P. Yes. He can do almost anything and play good golf if he only gets the club head into the ball at the right moment on the right line.

I played a short while back with a good professional who swayed perceptibly on almost every shot, and then turned in a 68. He was slight of build. He had been playing golf all his life, being a native-born Scot. He swayed back from the ball and then swayed into it in order to get more distance. His timing was perfect. He swayed in at just the right instant. But he has been doing this, he told me, ever since he was nine or ten years old. If the average golfer had tried the same thing he probably would fall on his face. What a man does well because he has been doing it all his life is no system for an older beginner to copy. If you are inclined to be rigid and stiff a slight sway might be useful. Anything will be useful that will break up the fence-post method of playing the game.

Pick-Ups

Doc Auten, club physician, made his appearance at the park Wednesday and announced himself ready for the coming season, which makes it all ready to start. In addition to administering to ailing Crackers, Doc keeps the scoreboard up to date during every game and is a fixture in the press box every season.

With this being March 15 and the time for tax returns, Auditor Frazer has been deluged with requests from members of the squad to fill out their returns for them. It's really surprising how little the players know about subtracting Item A from Item X, adding Item D and dividing by Item I, or whatever it is you must do. But then, there are very few people who do.

The scoreboard, in deep centerfield, has been painted black with all figures in white. It reads very much easier than did the futuristic color design of green and yellow on the thing last summer.

Newton Still Leads.

Peach Springs, Ariz., March 14.—(United News.)—Arthur Newton, of South Africa, spurted near the end of the eleventh lap in the Los Angeles to New York foot race today to beat out Nestor Erickson, of Detroit, for first place.

Contos Brings New Matman Here Tonight

Atlanta's wrestling fans tonight will make the acquaintance of Mike Romano, Italian mat champion and one of the few grapplers who has attracted a capacity crowd to a wrestling match at Chicago in the last few years. Romano in his Atlanta debut at the city auditorium will be pitted against "Scotty" McDougal, the terrible Scotchman.

It threatens to be a rough and tumble affair from start to finish for Romano is similar to the Scotchman in that he delights in adding rough tricks to his general offensive. Such a move tonight is likely to set the Scotchman off for it is a matter of common knowledge that he has a fiery temper.

Judging from McDougal's past appearance at the auditorium the cash customers always benefit when he loses his temper for each explosion is followed by furious wrestling on McDougal's part.

Confession.

Matchmaker Contos has confided that he went to considerable expense to bring Romano here for this bout tonight, but did so in the belief that the Atlanta fans will be glad to see a new face, particularly as Romano is regarded as one of the outstanding wrestlers in the country today and is a big drawing card in practically every city where he has wrestled.

Not enough to make up a regiment, however you may figure it.

Romano since coming to America has defeated some of the best grapplers in the game and has made a standing offer of $1,000 to any Italian wrestler who beats him. In addition he will risk his championship belt against any fellow countrymen who cares to question his supremacy on the mat.

In addition to the main event tussle between McDougal and Romano Matchmaker Contos is offering two other good bouts.

Semi-Windup.

The one hour semi-windup will find Jack Evans, the Georgia grappler, pitted against none other than Pat McGill, who is just as Irish as his name indicates. Pat is also making his first Atlanta appearance, but is said to be quite a wrestler.

Evans has won considerable favor with the fans in his two matches at the auditorium, giving a couple of the toughest professionals in the game a tough battle.

The preliminary tonight will involve Tom Marvin, the Osage Indian and Wiley Hewitt, who has been shown here several times.

PEGLER FINDS A PAIR

OF COARSE CHARACTERS

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Tampa, Fla., March 14.—Among the winter population of Tampa there are two gentlemen who might be termed coarse characters. There may be, and undoubtedly are, others here who would answer to the same general description, but the two under consideration are Broadway Johnny Cox and Mr. Charlie Blair.

Mr. Cox propounded a naive theory some time ago. Being a manager of prize fighters, he naturally is ever on the alert for a heavyweight champion of the world, and his theory is that if a gentleman in his line of business will go about the country throwing rocks through the windows of pool parlors and speakeasies, inciting the inmates to indignation and physical protest, eventually there will emerge some tough character who can be schooled, coddled and managed into great achievements in the calling which teaches self reliance, courage and clean sportsmanship to the young.

"Look at Luther McCarthy," says Mr. Cox. "He was a fry cook in a lunch wagon. Somewhere out in North Dakota some fight manager happened through the place without any funds and ate about two dollars worth of ham and eggs. When he was all through he offered to fight the cook for the two dollars, not having that much in ready cash, and Luther licked him about 80 dollars worth. So he decided that Luther was a great heavyweight prospect and if Luther hadn't been killed up in Calgary, he would have been worth a million dollars."

Reason.

That is why Mr. Cox, when he becomes exhilarated, throws rocks through the windows of pool parlors and refreshment resorts.

Although they are of somewhat the same mind with regard to society in general, Mr. Cox and Mr. Blair are not bosom companions.

Mr. Blair was a sergeant in the United States army expedition to Archangel, Russia.

"It was strictly a union war up there," he states. "We would fire a certain number of rounds a day and then get back into our cars and play blackjack with 100,000 rouble Russian bank notes, which were worth about one-tenth of a cent in American money. I became interested in the manly art of self-defense when some Y. M. C. A. secretary came up to the line and requested the major to send a number of boxers down to the hospital at the base to fight in a tournament for the entertainment of the sick and wounded. I was not a very good fighter, but I was a sergeant, and I was not in any way feeble minded, so when the boxing detail went back to spend a month at the base, I was on the list as the middleweight champion of the battalion. I was so eager to get back to the base that I served in the tender of the locomotive on the way. The engine was a wood burner and whenever we would run out of logs for the fire box, we would stop the train and turn out a detail to fell some trees and saw them into cord wood. When I got into the ring at the hospital, some despicable character from Sandusky, Ohio, hit me a clip on the chin and knocked me unconscious, so the Y. M. C. A. secretary sent me right back to the line."

Career.

Mr. Cox also had a military career. In a social emergency a few years ago, Mr. Cox and I found ourselves quartered together in a room in a hotel on Broadway, and when he undressed I noticed that his exterior was marked by many patches and stitches.

"Oh," said Mr. Cox. "I got those from shrapnel. I was up in Minneapolis the winter we went into the war. I had a fighter and he won a fight so of course I got tight and when I woke up I was a private in a regiment of Swedes. It was funny for a New York gentleman to be soldiering with a lot of ski-jumpers, but it was all the same army, so it didn't make much difference, and, anyway, the Swedes were nice fellows and there were some good heavyweights among them."

Still, although they were comrades in arms in a general way, Mr. Cox and Mr. Blair are not friends. This lack of sympathy between fellow veterans is deplorable, but what are you going to do when Mr. Cox states that Mr. Blair is a bum, and Mr. Blair states that Mr. Cox is a bum.

Southern Player Rule Interpreted

Memphis, Tenn., March 14.—(AP)—President John D. Martin, of the Southern association, interpreting the new player rule for the Birmingham club today, decided that a club that carries only 17 players may have 13 who are in "A" classification.

The rule, adopted by the owners at their winter meeting here, provided that a club may have 18 players, of whom five must come from a lower classification than "A."

Under Mr. Martin's ruling when a club has only 17 players, the player allowed by the quota but not carried is classed as "B."

McGraw Resumes Work After Being Struck

Augusta, Ga., March 14.—(AP)—Despite a painful blow on the ankle from a batted ball during the morning session, John J. McGraw was on the field at today's afternoon practice round of his New York Giants, limping slightly, but doing out instructions and counsel as usual.

Physicians who examined the injured member agreed with the New York manager that there was no cause for concern, but also concurred in his belief that an X-ray examination of the ankle tomorrow will be best in the interest of safety.

Genuine Criticism.

Sometimes the most exhaustive criticisms of art do not come from the critics who are supposed to know all there is to know about the business of painting, sculpturing or what not.

In the case of which we speak the critic could hardly be termed a connoisseur nor even an expert, but he paid exceeding high tribute to the work of Margaret Fitzhugh Brown, New York artist who came to Atlanta to paint the portraits of Bobby Jones and Scott Hudson, president of the Atlanta Athletic club.

The story, in brief, is as follows: Al, the head locker boy at the club, is a great admirer of Mr. Hudson and incidentally harbors great respect for the ability of Mr. Hudson to keep things moving about the club. After the portrait of Mr. Hudson was finished Al went with one of the members of the club to view the canvas.

He stood to marvel at the work for a full minute, then started a monologue something like this: "Lawdy, ain't dat jest lak him? Ah nevah seed nothin' mo lak nobody. You know, if dey hang one ob dem pitchas in every room in dis yere club some ob dese lazy niggahs would sho git to wuk."

That criticism was not couched in the artistic phrases of the great critics but it carried as great a tribute to the work of the famous artist. It was one criticism which Miss Brown may be sure is genuine.

Fluke or Ability?

To say Johnny Adcock is a great pitcher because he happened to go well in the first practice game of the season would be like giving a field trial dog a prize for finding a covey of birds on the first day before all the dogs had run.

BUT to give Johnny Adcock his just dues is entirely fair. Johnny's performance against the regulars Tuesday, when he gave up no hits and no bases on balls and whiffed three batters, may be a fluke. If so let's pray for a lot of flukes this season when such flukes will mean ball games in the win column.

Our humble opinion is that Johnny has the makings of a great port-sided heaver. His delivery is easy and as deceptive as March weather in Georgia. He has a screw ball that does everything but thumb its nose at the batter, and the lad seems to have sufficient stamina to hold the pace in his turn. We are very anxious to see him get a few more tries just to find out if his Tuesday attempt was just a fluke or an indication of strength.

Big Shoot.

The man who said "competition is the fuel on which the motors of industry run" could have enlarged that statement to include sports. Since the Peachtree Gun club was organized the friendly rivalry between the new club and the old Atlanta Gun club has been keen. Next week will be one for the Atlanta Gun club when the great Dixie shoot marks the calendar.

The shoot will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and from the array of money and other prizes offered it is entirely probable that a lot of expert dust-makers will be making little ones out of big ones behind the traps those three days.

Cole, Smith In Rubber Go At Ringside

Each Holds Victory Over Other; Edge Goes With Win Friday Night.

Keen and personal rivalry between fighters on the weekly program at the Ringside arena Friday night is expected to speed up combat in each of the bouts, so Matchmaker Jimmy Mayson announced yesterday as he revealed his entire program.

A total of 22 rounds of prelims will be offered in support of the main event clash between Battling Steve Smith, of Fort Oglethorpe, and Pete Cole, the sensational young pugilist from Rome.

In the eight-round semiwindup Ray Smith, of Rome, will tackle Ford Munger, of Athens. Those boys are said to be exceptionally skilled and in addition to their talent are blessed with considerable punching power.

Cairo Flash.

The six-round prelim on the card calls for an encounter between Joe Knight, of Cairo, and Joe Ketchel, of Cedartown. Knight has had several engagements at the Ringside and has built up a following among Atlanta fans. He is determined to keep Ketchel from annexing his glory with a victory in their Friday night skirmish.

Two four rounders will fill out the card. In one it will be Johnny Acree of Atlanta versus Carl Clemmon, while in the other one the two newsboy twins will mix. They are known as Bike and Ike.

Atlanta fans who have not seen Pete Cole fight since the days of his appearances at the city auditorium will hardly recognize him as the same fighter when they see him whirl into action against Smith here Friday night. Cole has taken on weight, improved his boxing skill and increased his speed. Today he is regarded as one of the outstanding young fighters in the south and in practically every southern town where boxing flourishes he is a big drawing card.

Happy Hunter Resumes Work

Happy Hunter, holder of the colored light-heavyweight championship of the south, has resumed training after a lay-off of four months, necessitated by an injured elbow received in training. Hunter is doing only light work at present, but will soon be ready to meet any fighter that promoters may offer, according to Captain Billy Lotz, his manager.

During the past year Hunter met and defeated, by knockout, Cecil Flowers, Eddie Cox, Texas King, Herbert Moore, Joe Adams and Charley King. Hunter has also successfully boxed such boys as the late Tiger Flowers, Bob Lawson, Homer Robinson and Homer Mims.

Basketball

Six games will be played on Y court Thursday night in order to finish the 1928 basketball season of the Y Church leagues.

This series will see the crowning of three champions as the leaders of the three leagues will be in action in this series with the final game deciding the winners of the Dixie league.

Though Decatur Presbyterian has the lead in the Sewanee league their game in this series must go into the "games won" column before the trophy is theirs.

Lloyd Hahn Fails To Break Record

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Lloyd Hahn, crack Boston A. A. middle distance runner, failed tonight in his effort to break his own indoor record for the three-quarters of a mile, covering the distance in 3 minutes 5 seconds to win the "Jasper three-quarters" feature event of the Manhattan games at the 102d engineers armory.

Hahn's time was 1 3-5 seconds back of the standard of 3:03 2-5 he set for the distance at the Manhattan games three years ago.

His opposition tonight came only from Johnny Theobold, of the New York A. C., who finished second, 60 yards back of the Boston A. A. star, and Murray Goldfish, of the Millrose A. C., who trailed Theobold by only a few yards.

Dixie Handicap Shoot Begins Monday

Rickard Gets Sam Mandell And McLarnin

Baby Face To Fight Sammy for Title at Polo Grounds May 17.

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, and his foremost challenger, "Baby Face" Jimmy McLarnin, signed articles with Tex Rickard today, through their managers, for a 15-round title match at the Polo Grounds May 17.

Eddie Kane Mandell's manager, came to terms with Rickard after Jim Mullen, Chicago promoter, had sought unsuccessfully to sign McLarnin. Mullen holds Mandell's contract for a match with McLarnin at Soldier field, Chicago, on June 21 and Kane said he would go through with it.

Mandell's contract calls for 37 1-2 per cent of the receipts, the limit allowed under the New York boxing law. McLarnin will get 12 1-2 per cent.

MULLEN TO FILE SUIT AT ONCE.

Chicago, March 14.—(AP)—Promoter Jim Mullen explosively declared today that he would file suit restraining Sammy Mandell from engaging Jimmy McLarnin in a lightweight championship battle in New York for Tex Rickard May 17.

Mullen has Mandell's signature for a title match to be fought here June 21. Mandell has $5,000 on deposit with the Illinois state athletic commission to go through with it, with McLarnin as his opponent.

"That contract Rickard has with Mandell and McLarnin is a joke," Mullen said.

"I have positive knowledge that he has guaranteed Mandell $65,000 with the privilege of 40 per cent, and has guaranteed McLarnin $35,000 with the privilege of taking 17 1-2 per cent.

"Rickard is trying to fool the New York commission by having two sets of contracts made."

Third Scrimmage Of Year Is Held At Grant Field

BY ROGER PAGE.

Getting a late start on account of a practice baseball game, the Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech went through the third scrimmage of the spring football training Wednesday afternoon, Coaches Alexander, Fincher and Miller officiating.

Numerous forward passes were heaved in the game on the Flats Wednesday but very few of them were complete. The passer has little protection as he ran back to start to pass. It seemed as if no blocking was being done, and several times before the ball left the hands of the hurler, two or three men were on him.

Dunlap made some good runs while in the clash. He is a very fast, sidestepping back, and on many occasions made several yards after he had been tackled. Stumpy Thomason has not yet appeared on the field in his uniform. Stumpy hurt his back in the last games of the past season and has had trouble with it since then.

Throughout the scrimmage Coaches Alexander and Miller made several suggestions and changes in the playing of some of the men. In some cases Alex went through the play himself, showing exactly how and what his men should do. Bill Fincher also was making continual changes in his line.

Horemans Wins Billiard Title

PAUL STRAND
Outfielder

PAUL STRAND

Some few months ago, in December to be exact, Colonel Rell Jackson Spiller and his chief aide, Bert Niehoff, went out to Dallas, Texas, to the baseball meeting of the minor leagues and purchased five baseball players. Among them was Paul Strand, ex-big leaguer and last year with Portland of the Pacific coast league.

Investigation revealed that Strand was getting slightly aged, and the howl arose that "Spiller had bought some more old men." Then March 5, training for the Crackers, and Strand was among those arriving. He isn't young, but having watched him in practice for the past week and a half, one would judge that he can still move about.

And when he swings at a baseball and connects, which is very often as a .358 batting average for 1927 would seem to indicate, one has the feeling that Strand can be 100 years old, if he can just hit like that.

The big outfielder is a left-handed thrower and bats right-handed. He has laid into the ball lustily during batting practices and it appears that shelling the left-field stands will be a favorite sport of his this season.

Strand has been in baseball, as a professional, since 1910 or 1911, and in that time has piled up a good record. He started out with Spokane, Wash., in the Northwestern league, as a pitcher. In 1913 he went up to the Boston Braves and remained there until 1917, still pitching and making good at it. He was in the army for two years during the war, came out and went with Peoria, Ill., in the Three-Eye league. Still pitching. After being with Peoria for a season, Strand went to Salt Lake City. There he had trouble with his shoulder, which sent him from the mound to the outfield.

Following his stay with Salt Lake City, Strand went back up to the majors, being with Connie Mack's Athletics until 1925, when he was sold to Toledo, in the American association. There he stayed for two years, and then in 1927 went to Portland.

Strand was born in Carbonado, Wash., around 35 years ago. He stands six feet, barefooted, and weighs 190 pounds when down to mid-season weight. You'll probably hear from Strand and his bat this summer.

100 Marksmen Are Expected Here for Meet

Atlanta Gun Club Host to Trapshooters Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday.

BY WHITNER CARY.

If there was ever an overworked newspaper phrase, it is "the biggest and best." Yet when opening any discussion of the coming Dixie handicap shoot that takes place at the Atlanta Gun club Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week one is loath to use any other less extravagant expression.

According to Dr. Henry Napoleon Alford, one of the best shots in this section, head of the Atlanta Gun club and withal a very truthful man, there are going to be no less than 75 visitors who will burn powder during those three days. Add to this imposing array some 25 or more local cracks and you get a field that will compare very favorably with any state championship shoot.

They are coming from all over the country, from New York city to Waco, Texas, and from South Dakota to Fort Myers, Fla. Grover C. Walsh and D. T. Leahy, a pair of famous shots, will represent New York. Clint Minot, a shooter with a wonderful reputation in the northwest, will wander in from South Dakota, while E. M. Woody, who writes Waco after his name, will hold up the shooting tradition of the Lone Star state. To this list might be added Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stribley, of Fort Myers, and Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Garl, of Birmingham.

Chattanooga will likely send a full squad as will Tampa, Birmingham, Tallahassee and Knoxville. From over South Carolina way Spartanburg, Ike Andrews and W. S. Montgomery will head a large delegation. All the old standbys from this section, including Harry Lanier, of Augusta, state champion, will be on hand.

The big shoot begins Monday with the four class championships. These consist of 200 targets. Gold medals go to the winners of each class as well. Cash to the amount of $400 will also be given. A preliminary 25 pairs of doubles in which there will be cash prizes of $50 distributed winds up the first day's activities.

Tuesday will see the Dixie singles of 200 targets. A gold medal goes to the winner and $400 cash will be distributed. The first 25 pairs of the championship doubles will also be shot on this day. Cash prizes of $50 will be awarded in this event.

Wednesday, the closing day, is featured with the Robert Fulton challenge cup race. This event calls for 100 targets from the 16 to 22-yard ranges and includes 10 pairs of doubles. It carries a gold medal and $50 to the winner, while $225 will be distributed among the 14 shooters having the highest score. The concluding 25 pairs of doubles in the doubles championship will also be a feature of the closing day. The winner gets a gold medal and the 10 high guns share in a distribution of $125.

The Dixie handicap, consisting of 100 targets from the 16 to 24-yard ranges, brings the shoot to a close. In this event the handicap, according to official trap shooting records, will govern. One hundred dollars in gold and a handsome gold medal goes to the winner in this event while the next 19 shooters share in a distribution of $425.

On Saturday the Atlanta Gun club will hold a practice shoot to which all those intending to enter the Dixie handicap are cordially invited to attend.

5 Good Fights Offered by Davis

Every bout on Kid Davis' boxing show at the Sunset park tonight will end in a win for one of the two participants. If any of the five ends in a draw extra round or rounds will be staged to decide the winner.

This, however, is just one of the many features to the 32-round boxing show. Benny Williams, of New York, and Eddie Cox, Atlanta negro, are to head the card with a 10-round tussle. Williams has a good record to help him on in the fight, while Cox is a big favorite with the local negro show fans.

Eight-round semi windup, Hard Hitting Wright vs. Battling Parks. Clyde Glover vs. Paul Williams, six rounds. Joe Davis vs. Fighting Lawrence, four rounds, and a battle royal.

A special section is reserved for white fans, while the colored Elks' band will furnish music.

Baseball News

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Exhibition contests and the "big brother" act—the farming of recruits to the minor leagues, held the center of American and National league baseball training interests in the south today, Wednesday.

Bill McKechnie, Cardinal manager, released Stan Dyer, southpaw hurler, to Topeka, of the Western association, while Clark Griffith, of the Washington Senators, had a conference arranged for today with Roy Ellam, Tampa, Fla., Southeastern league manager, concerning youngsters that club is trying for.

Connie Mack, Athletic pilot, announced that Ike Powers, pitcher, was being "loaned" the Baltimore Internationals.

"Bill Doak Day" is being planned at Bradenton, Fla., today, where the Robins with Doak a member of their squad, will invade the Boston Americans' field. Doak's fellow townsmen will present him with a gift.

An injury to John McGraw, Giant manager, who was struck on the foot by a batted ball upset training at Augusta. The extent of the "Little Napoleon's" injury was not at first determined but X-ray pictures will be made to see if any bones have been fractured.

The Cleveland Indians at New Orleans went through a base-running drill.

Triple Play.

Orlando, Fla., March 14.—The Cincinnati Reds executed the first triple play of the baseball season today, but lost the game to the St. Louis Browns, 6 to 4.

With the bases filled in the first, McCann, playing second for the Browns, leaped high in the air to spear Kress' liner. He tossed to Pittenger, catching Blue off second, who threw to Kelly, tripling Schulte off first.

New York, March 14.—(AP)—An early advance of today's cotton market on unexpectedly large domestic consumption figures for February was followed by reactions. May sold off from 18.86 to 18.71 and closed at 18.72, the general market closing steady, at a net advance of 4 points on March, but generally a point higher to 2 points lower.

The market opened steady at an advance of 7 to 11 points on relatively steady Liverpool cables and the report of the census bureau showing domestic consumption of 573,810 bales of lint cotton for February, compared with 582,417 for January and 589,513 during February last year. The trade evidently had been looking for lower figures and for a time the market was rather active and firm, March selling up to 18.69 and October to 18.38 or 13 to 15 points net higher on active months.

Demand tapered off at these figures, however, and the market sagged off during the afternoon under comparatively small offerings. No southern selling of consequence was reported here, but there appeared to be some liquidation by recent buyers or reselling by early buyers, who were probably disappointed by the failure of the statistical showing to create a more general or aggressive demand. Prospects for showers in west Texas also were a factor on the reaction which carried prices back to about yesterday's closing quotations or a shade below on the later deliveries. Last prices were within a point or two of the lowest.

Some local traders expressed an opinion that the limited response of the market to the bullish interpretation of the home consumption figures furnished an additional indication that the old crop statistical position had been discounted, and that raders were waiting for the new crop start for fresh incentives.

Private cables said there was local buying of near months with trade calling and Manchester buying in Liverpool and an increased cloth inquiry from India in Manchester although many offers were impracticable.

Exports today were 22,078 bales, making 5,518,694 so far this season. Port receipts 16,135. U. S. port stocks 1,929,696.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON MARKET ACTIVE.

New Orleans, La., March 14.—(AP)—The cotton market showed considerably more activity today than has been the rule of late, and prices fluctuated within a broader range. Following an early advance the market turned easy near noon losing nearly all of the gain. A recovery in early afternoon gave way to easiness in the final trading and the market closed steady, net six points up to 2 down.

May contracts opened at 18.40 and advanced to 18.48 or 16 points net up. The subsequent decline carried that month down to 18.35, where it closed, compared with 18.32 at yesterday's close.

Liverpool cables were better than due at the start here and the market opened firm. The census bureau's February consumption total of 573,810 bales were construed as mildly bullish and prices continued to advance after the start until July reached 18.29 and October 18.02, 12 to 17 points net up.

Realizing developed later in the morning, probably attracted by higher prices and July reacted 12 points to 18.17. Although there was a rally of 7 to 8 points in the afternoon, the market gradually eased off in late trading and July closed at 18.17 and October 17.88, or 5 points up and two down, respectively, for the day.

Exports 22,078 bales.

Cotton Briefs.

New Orleans, March 14.—The weekly weather and crop summary says that cotton planted in southern Texas is doing well but that planting is still confined to extreme southern districts.

The weather may this morning shows some rains in the eastern belt, but the central district and the west were dry.

The census bureau's report on domestic consumption during February showing 573,810 bales exclusive of linters, while a little under January and also slightly under February a year ago, was considered mildly bullish. The total is said to look large when all the recent talk of mill curtailment is remembered.

With the winter nearing its end, it is reported that western Texas and portions of Oklahoma still lack subsoil moisture, which is not considered promising for a crop in those sections.

The market took rather a bullish view of the consumption figures and showed more animation in the early trading than has been the rule of late, and prices scored a moderate advance.

Mill stocks at the end of February were 38,000 bales smaller than at the end of the preceding month, and 263,000 bales less than at the end of February last year.

By resolution of the board of directors of the exchange here, the market will be closed Good Friday, April 6, and Saturday, April 7, Easter holidays.

Cottonseed Oil.

New York, March 14.—The cottonseed oil market was slightly more active today, but prices continued to fluctuate over narrow limits on a mixed local trade. Liquidation of May depressed the near months, whil later deliveries held steady in sympathy with cotton, lard, corn and crude oil. Sales of May were partially replaced in the later months, the May-September difference widening to 57 points. Final prices were 6 points lower to 2 net higher. Sales 19,500 barrels. Prime crude 8.12½; prime summer yellow spot 9.50; March closed 9.50; May 9.59; July 9.95; August 10.04; September 10.17.

New Orleans, March 14.—Cotton oil futures were easier in early trading today, but rallied later in sympathy with firmer lard and steady crude oil. Prime summer yellow closed unchanged at 8.90. Prime crude closed at 8.12½. Futures closed steady. March, 9.00; May, 9.23; July, 9.52; September 9.69; October 9.52.

Coffee.

New York, March 14.—Coffee futures were lower today under realizing or liquidation by recent buyers, probably influenced by the easier tone of Brazil. Rio contracts opened 3 to 14 points lower. May sold off to 14.46 and closed to 14.55, the general market closing 11 to 20 points net lower. Santos contract opened at unchanged to 12 lower and closed at a net decline of 5 to 22 points. Estimated sales, Rio 50,000; Santos, 14,000. Closing quotations: Rio, March, 15.85; May, 14.55; July, 14.05; September, 13.60; December, 13.37; January, 13.21; March (1929), 13.05. Santos, March, 21.40; May, 20.80; July, 20.10; September, 19.57; December, 18.96; March (1929), 18.70.

Spot coffee dull, Rio 7s, 16½; Santos 4s, 22¾ to 23½. Cost and freight offers included Bourbon 3s and at 21.90 to 23.30.

Rio exchange on London 1-128 pence lower; dollar buying rate unchanged. Rio market 50 to 100 reis lower; Santos unchanged to 275 reis lower. Brazilian port receipts, 43,00; Jundiahy receipts, 21,000.

CURB ISSUES GAIN AFTERNOON SLUMP

New York, March 14.—(AP)—The curb market list resisted profit-taking sales today and after a mid-day slump prices generally resumed their upward trend. Realizing caused some weak spots among the industrials, but there were several new highs. Utilities also were strong.

Canadian Marconi marked the industrials, trading totalling 275,000 shares. The issue opened at 4 13-16, moved to a new high at 6 3-8, slumped about 2 points and closed at 5 7-8, up slightly more than a point net. Marconi Wireless of London also was in demand, touching a new high at 17, but closing slightly lower. Buying of both issues was attributed to reports of a new agreement with English companies on cable rates and rumors that Canadian Marconi is planning recapitalization.

National Sugar Refiners advanced to a new high at 135 upon announcement of increased prices for refined sugar. Improved earnings gave strength to General Ice Cream, St. Regis Paper, McQuay Norris, Syracuse Washing Machine and Torrington. Artificial Silk issues gained some ground. Firestone Tire closed 2 points net higher.

Failure of the directors to declare the expected extra dividend caused a drop of nearly 6 points in Bancitaly. Chain Stores issues also were weak, Dominion sagging nearly 7 points. Safe-T-Stat was under pressure and closed slightly lower.

Reports of increased sales this year brought support to the utilities. While movements were limited, Blackstone Valley and United Light and Power A were at new high levels.

Cities Service common again advanced to a new high, but more oils and pipe lines were weak. Standard of Kentucky lost nearly 3 points and Prairie Pipe Line 5. Creole Syndicate continued to sag.

Total stock sales, 3,185,000 shares.

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Wild speculation for the advance was resumed in several specialties in today's market, but the general list sagged under the weight of heavy profit-taking sales. Extreme gains in some of the pool favorites ranged from 5 to 17 1-2 points, but these were materially cut down in the late selling movement. Trading failed to maintain the dizzy pace set earlier in the week, the day's sales aggregating 3,185,000 shares, compared with yesterday's record-breaking total of 3,913,400.

Investigation of the alleged "technical corner" in Radio had a sobering influence on that stock, which opened 8 points lower at 138, rallied to 153 1-2 and closed at 150, up 4 points net. American Linseed was the outstanding performer in today's session, soaring 17 1-2 points to a new high record at 111 3-4 and then slipping to 107.

"Bear" traders also were hard pressed in such issues as American Zinc common and preferred, Houston Oil, Timken Roller Bearing and Vanadium Steel, all of which closed with net gains of 5 points or more. Short covering also stimulated the advances in International Nickel, International Match preferred and Hudson, the last named touching a new high level since 1926, at 98, and then easing to 95 1-2, up 3 points net.

Call Money Plentiful.

Unconfirmed reports that some of the large banks disapproved the recent market pyrotechnics and made their views known to several of the large pool operations, were circulated in Wall street during the day and undoubtedly stimulated the late selling movement. Rails, which have not participated extensively in the recent upswing, attracted a good sized following, with some handsome gains in the stocks of carriers involved in the eastern trunk line consolidation scheme.

Call money was in plentiful supply all day at the renewal figure of 4 1-2 per cent despite the heavy demand for funds in connection with dividend, interest and income tax payments tomorrow. There was no change in other monetary accommodations.

Steel trade reviews were not quite so optimistic as heretofore, the Iron Age stating that the steel market has lost some of its momentum, while the Iron Trade Review reported that "symptoms characteristic of the peak of an upswing are more evident." Resumption of dividends on Atlantic Gulf & West Indies Steamship preferred apparently had been well discounted, as the stock broke 6 points and rallied 1 1-2 on the announcement.

Motors Revival.

Motor shares showed a revival of activity and strength on the announcement of an increase in the price of some of the Studebaker models. General Motors shook off its sluggishness and closed 1 3-4 points net higher at 157 1-4 after having touched 159, or 2 points below last week's record breaking high.

Wabash, with an extreme gain of nearly 6 points, all but a fraction of which was maintained, was leader in the railroad group, touching a new 1928 peak at 70 3-4. The St. Paul issues and Texas & Pacific also reached new high ground and Delaware & Hudson retained two-thirds of an early gain of 6 points.

Return of the Canadian dollars to parity, after selling at a slight discount, and a sharp break in Portuguese escudos to below 4 cents, the lowest rate in recent years, divided speculative interest in the foreign exchange market. Sterling cables held steady around $4.87 7-8, but most of the continental rates were slightly easier.

Commodity markets were mixed, with no changes of importance. Wheat closed unchanged to a fraction of a cent a bushel lower and active cotton futures closed around yesterday's final quotations. Coffee reacted 11 to 20 points.

The Day in Finance

BY R. L. BARNUM

Rumors that Coolidge will "choose to run" excites activity in markets. Wall street firm has made more than $10,000,000 in Radio, gossips say. Linseed has active day.

New York, March 14.—With Radio opening at 138 against yesterday's opening of 150, and last night's closing of 146, the stock market as a whole was irregular during the early trading. Rumors were heard that large shorts had made an overnight settlement in Radio. These reports, however, appeared to be contradicted in Radio's advance before noon to 149.

Around noon the market again became very active on the constructive side on widespread reports that Coolidge had definitely decided to reconsider and again run. These rumors were quickly characterized at the white house as "news." The market, however, continued to boil, but with the volume under yesterday's new high which the Wall Street Journal gave as 4,000,000 shares for the first time in the history of the stock exchange, with others placing the figures slightly under the 4,000,000 mark.

All that is needed to bring about wild speculation in a stock is a sharp movement one way or the other. Beyond question the big outside public from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf is now speculating in the stock market.

Linseed Rises.

American Linseed common was one of the star performers. That stock closed last night at 94 1-4 against the 1928 low of 56 3-8, opening this morning at 100, advancing around noon to 106 on rumors that the directors would meet late in the day and consider resumption of dividends on the preferred stock which were passed last year. The common stock now selling well above par has not received a dividend since 1921. What has happened in Linseed stock marketwise is what has been going on in other stocks in which there has been recently a large short interest.

American Sugar published its 1927 annual report today, showing $1.49 a share earned for the common stock against $7.08 for 1926. The common dividend was passed last month. After payment of the common dividend last year there was a deficit of $1,581,000.

One of the large Wall street banks will shortly make public its regular monthly analysis of the general financial and industrial situation and outlook, based on the returns so far for the first quarter of 1928. This recognized authority will make an unqualified statement that general trade, although late for this season of the year, has definitely turned the corner, with the outlook for the second quarter deserving of confidence.

Production of steel continues at a high rate, the Iron Age says today in its weekly review, but adds that some of the momentum of the first two months of the year has been lost. It is added that there has been some shrinkage in new buying, with mills less uncompromising in their attitude on prices.

Wright Stocks Active.

Wright Airplane shares were active and strong on the trans-Atlantic flight started from the other side. A Wright motor is being used in this flight. Wright shares had a big advance when Lindbergh made his flight.

General Motors was more active today, advancing during the early trading on rumors that the February sales to dealers to be given out shortly would show 169,000 against 175,000 for January, and 124,000 for February of last year. In the late trading there was some profit-taking in General Motors. Steel common, which was also strong in the early trading, also turned soft later in the day.

Delaware & Hudson, Lackawanna, New York Central and other rails were more active on rumors from Philadelphia that a compromise had been reached in the eastern railroad fight, with Pennsylvania ready to withdraw after having promised much disputed mileage. According to these reports, President Loree, of Delaware & Hudson, who had been the leader of the fight against New York Central, B. & O. and Nickel Plate, will establish friendly relations with the Van Sweringens.

Made Fortune In Radio.

Of the many stories going the rounds of Wall street of what has happened the past few days to individuals buying or selling Radio, one of the most interesting is of a common, every-day customers' room trader, who was short 300 shares last Friday, 100 at 96 5-8; 100 at 100 1-4; 100 at 103 1-2, making his average within a very small fraction of 100. When the opening price Saturday morning was 114, this trader, thoroughly frightened, put in an order to buy 500 shares, getting it at 112. His loss on the 300 shares was $3,600. His paper profit on the 200 long shares at yesterday's opening was $9,600 after deducting the loss of $3,600 on the 300 shares.

Every share of Radio traded in during the past week when more than the entire 1,155,000 outstanding shares changed hands, has been bought or sold on the stock exchange floor through the firm of J. Meehan & Co., the head of the firm and his partner, acting as the only specialists in the stock. According to the story going the rounds, Meehan and his associates engineered the coup in Radio, Meehan making for his firm profits running into eight figures. Meehan and his associates, according to the story widely told and published, began to accumulate Radio between 85 and 90. The stampede of the shorts that followed carried the price to yesterday's opening, up 70 points from 90.

Associated Gas and Electric System

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS

Associated Gas and Electric Company:

You have already received a notice of a meeting of stockholders of the Company on March 12, 1928. We hope to have present at this meeting, either in person or by proxy, as nearly a complete representation of the holders of stock of all classes as can be secured.

While holders of the required number of shares have signified their intention of being present in person or by proxy, and assuring the approval and ratification of the action of the Board as set forth in the notice sent you March 1st, it is of course difficult to secure the practically unanimous support and approval which we hope for, from so large a number of stockholders as the 60,000 or thereabouts which the Associated Gas and Electric Company now has.

In order, therefore, to give all stockholders the necessary time and opportunity to return their proxies, the meeting to be held March 12th will be recessed to permit the ratification by those whose proxies are not received until a later date, of the action which will be taken at that meeting.

TERMS OF DEBENTURES.

The proposed 20-year Convertible Debentures dated March 1, 1928, will be a high grade, desirable investment. The present earnings, now available for the payment of interest, are well over twice the amount required, both before and after depreciation. The interest rate, 4½%, is in line with the current trend. The proceeds are to be uesd mostly to pay off debt carrying 5½% and 6% interest, which when done will increase the earnings for the Class A and Common Stocks.

WARRANTS AND CONVERSION PRIVILEGES

The warrant and conversion privileges are very attractive. The 20 shares of Class A stock into which each $1,000 Debenture is to be convertible have shown an aggregate selling price of $1,040 ($52 per share—104% of the principal amount of the Debenture) within the last quarter.

Similarly for those who desire the maximum opportunity for appreciation with a lesser current return, the 16 shares of Class A and the 9 shares of Common Stock (at $22 per share) have shown an aggregate selling price of $1,030 within the same quarter (103% of the principal amount of the Debenture), each compared with the subscription price of not more than 99% (which may be reduced when the matter is finally settled by the Board of Directors after the meeting of stockholders on March 12th).

FURTHER MEETING

It has been suggested that purchasers of these Debentures would prefer to have the optional conversion privileges into Class A Stock or units of Class A and Common Stocks, represented by warrants attached to the Debentures, so that the Debenture holders will not be required to surrender their Debentures in order to secure the conversion privilege, but may, at their option, either surrender their Debentures in payment for the stock or retain the Debentures and purchase the stock for cash. In this way they would be able to retain their investment in the Debentures and at the same time realize the advantage from the purchase of the stock. This suggestion has such merit that it has been decided to submit it to the stockholders.

A further special meeting of stockholders has therefore been called and will be held on March 22, 1928, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the principal office of the Company, at No. 123, South Cayuga Street, Ithaca, New York, for the purpose of taking such further action as may be necessary, by further amendment of the certificate of incorporation of the Company and otherwise, to permit the attachment of warrants for the purchase of Class A Stock and/or Common Stock of this Company to its securities and the issuance of such stock upon the exercise of such warrants free from any limitation requiring the receipt of any certain aggregate consideration from the issuance of stocks junior thereto.

MAILING OF RIGHTS

The preparation and mailing to registered security holders of rights to subscribe to new Debentures will not be delayed pending the meeting of March 22nd.

10% INITIAL PAYMENTS—INSTALLMENTS

In offering the new Debentures for subscription, provision will be made for payment in installments, upon which interest will be allowed at 4½%. An initial payment of 10% of the principal amount of the Debentures is to be made at the time of subscription.

Further and complete details will be furnished when rights are mailed.

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Continued activity and strength of the new St. Paul lines, and a smart rally by the Seaboard issues were the outstanding features of today's bond market. The list displayed more activity than in recent sessions, with considerable buying in anticipation of disbursements to investors tomorrow. Time money and commercial paper rates continued on an even course.

More than $3,800,000 par value of the St. Paul mortgages changed hands at prices above the previous highs. The adjustment 5s sold as high as 68 3-8, but closed at 67 7-8, up 1 7-8.

Seaboard 5s had a net gain of 3 points, and most other issues in this group were a point or more above yesterday's final quotations. Erie 5s, at 98 3-4, were up nearly a point, but later lost part of their gain. Southern Railway 6s advanced a point to a new 1928 high.

Andes Copper 7s again stood out among the convertibles with an advance of 1 1-4, while Cuba Cane Sugar 8s declined about as much. High grade industrials and public utilities, in the main, were quiet and steady.

French obligations displayed renewed firmness on the eve of the republic's retirement tomorrow of $70,184,100 outstanding 8 per cent bonds. This operation was made possible last November by an arrangement to borrow $75,000,000 from the Swedish Match company in exchange for certain "cooperation" by the French State Match monopoly. A saving of about $2,100,000 annually in interest charges will be effected. Little of note occurred in other sections of the foreign list.

Unted States government securities were exchanged in moderately large volume, but price variations were small and irregular.

WHEAT FORCED OFF BY RAIN AND SNOW

Chicago, March 14.—(AP)—Rain and snow spreading eastward today gave a downward trend to the wheat market, but had a directly opposite effect on corn. It was expected that the winter wheat crop would benefit from moisture, whereas movement of corn would be interfered wi.h.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-2c lower; corn 1-2c to 7-8c up; oats varying from 1-8c decline to 1-2c advance.

Improved growth conditions southwest and west, with numerous points in Kansas and Nebraska receiving rain, did a good deal to ease the wheat market down early. Afterward, with the forecast indicating moisture for the greater part of domestic winter wheat territory, rallies in price failed to get very far, nothwithstanding that March delivery of wheat here is at premium over May, and that European continental buyers were reported as interested in Canadian wheat for quick shipment. About 500,000 bushels of wheat from North America and 50,000 bushels of rye were bought today for Europe.

Corn values turned sharply upward in the late dealings when bidders found offerings light. Export business was evidently in progress, and word was at hand, both from Kansas City and Omaha, that the rural movement of corn in adjoining territory is about over. Unsettled weather and smallness of receipts gave further incentive to buyers. Oats swayed with corn.

Provisions were somewhat firmer owing to corn strength.

FULL PROXIES SOUGHT BY ASSOCIATED GAS

In order to assure practically complete representation and approval of its 60,000 stockholders, the meeting of shareholders of the Associated Gas and Electric companies March 12 will be recessed until a later date to permit ratification of all actions taken by those whose proxies are not received. This announcement is made in an advertisement appearing in this issue, which describes financial matters proposed by the concern.

STOCK OPINIONS.

Fenner & Beane: Slowing up of market activity indicates bullish factors losing strength. Better tone in rails, oils, coppers and some motors.

F. B. Keech: Opportunities may be missed but we think conservatism will pay in the end.

Frazier Jelke & Co.: Look for another active and highly irregular market.

Prince & Whitley: Rails are acting well and look as if they were going higher.

WALL STREET JOURNAL.

Dealings on the stock exchange had a much calmer aspect today. Transactions fell off substantially from yesterday, and the trading was far more orderly. While vigorous advances went ahead in many sections of the list, bullish activities were conducted in much healthier fashion, and this fact exercised a reassuring effect on speculative sentiment.

Reports were current that important banking interests were dissatisfied with current conditions in the market and had warned certain aggressive pools to allow the upward pace to slacken.

During the first three or four hours brisk advances took place in American Linseed, Collins & Aikman, Vanadium and other specialties, with small amounts of stock available for trading purposes.

Radio continued its erratic fluctuations. After breaking 8 points to 136 at the opening, the stock resumed its advance, soaring more than 15 points from its initial levels before the rise was checked.

Late afternoon selling became quite general, and the market as a whole was reactionary in the final dealings.

Steel reviews were less optimistic than in recent weeks, stating that the market had lost some of the momentum that carried production and prices sharply upward in the first two months of the year. Some shrinking in new business also was recorded.

News, Views And Reviews

Cotton Letters.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, March 14.—The domestic consumption for the month of February proved about 20,000 bales in excess of expectations and caused an early advance of 12 to 15 points on covering and local buying, but the forecast for rain in the west belt inspired sufficient scattered selling to bring about the loss of the early gain. While the cotton situation is gradually strengthening and prices may work some higher, speculation continues conspicuous by its absence, and it looks as if the incentive for any important sustained advance must come from new crop developments.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

New York, March 14.—Census report, showing 573,810 bales consumed by domestic mills in February, was some 20,000 to 30,000 bales larger than popular expectations. Mill stocks for the month decreased 38,000 bales, with the amount on hand being 1,668,000. Warehouse stocks total 4,312,000, against 5,014,000 for January and 5,443,000 for end of February, 1927. Heavy consumption and diminishing stocks of cotton speak for themselves.

There remains a great deal of price fixing and new buying to be done by domestic mills and also there is yet to come considerable demand for export. These combinations are the market's sustaining features representing considerable trade short interest.

We anticipate continued gradual trade absorption with higher price tendency resulting.

FENNER & BEANE.

New Orleans, March 14.—Trading increased in volume today under stimulus of better consumption figures than generally expected, and reports from the eastern states that they have been getting too much rain. At one time, some positions sold nearly a dollar a bale higher. Later in the day the market lost most of its early gains on realizing due to the official forecast of showers in west and in northwest Texas. The market was helped in afternoon to some extent by statement from one of members of bureau of horticulture to effect that entire belt was likely to become infected with the pink boll worm unless planting of cotton is abandoned in the infested areas in West Texas.

The weather is increasing in importance as a market factor. If West Texas gets relief overnight, the market is apt to react, but should rally if it fails to get it.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, March 14.—The consumption report on the opening this morning of 573,810 was much larger than expected, and there was general short covering and some trade buying, the market advancing 15 points.

The western forecast, however, was for rains and halted further buying, the market easing off on profit-taking. There was fresh buying in the early afternoon, but on failure of trade and outside buying to follow the advance, the market eased off in the late afternoon to last night's closing figures.

H. & B. BEER.

Census domestic lint consumption returns for February showing somewhat larger than generally expected—574,000 versus 590,000 last year, and a relative decrease of 118,000 bales in mill stocks during the month compared with last year, influenced the cotton market to a higher level this morning, but realizing induced by prospects for rain in the southwest, especially in west Texas, indications for small mill takings for week next Friday, and probably larger ginnings than estimated by the government last December when a yield of 12,789,000 bales was predicted, caused the market to ease off again.

Liverpool cabled: "Manchester bought and locals bought nears." Manchester reports: "Increased cloth inquiry from India."

In weekly review, Washington had little to say regarding preparations and progress of the new crop, stating "early planted cotton in southern Texas shows fair to good stands, but planting is still confined to southern districts."

Stock Letters.

LIVINGSTON & CO. CLOSING STOCK LETTER.

New York, March 14.—On a somewhat smaller scale, the market this afternoon practically duplicated yesterday afternoon. Trading was considerably less. There was the same strength in the early afternoon followed by a small reaction in the last hour.

Altogether the market acted in a more normal and perhaps safer manner. Conservative interests would naturally like to see some selling and there is always the possibility of a corrective reaction. Buying that continues in certain individual issues, however, indicates higher prices for them.

H. & B. BEER.

New York, March 14.—Volume dropped off in today's trading but was still far from a conservative basis. Most stocks were in supply and the number of issues that were making real headway as against those that just benefitted sympathetically stood out.

News of the day included an Iron Age Review that suggested a shrinkage in new business and a very poor American sugar report.

Traders naturally were apprehensive over what the loan figures would show Thursday and this was responsible for some of the selling. Estimates seem idle. On the surface it would appear that a large increase is probable, but some of the important sponsors of the current bull favorites insist that any increase will be very moderate, or that even a decrease may be shown. It is very likely that as far as possible they have financed their own purchases outside of the usual channels.

Among special stocks, Vanadium gained over 7 points. We have in preparation an analysis of this situation which we expect to release tomorrow. We believe the company's potentialities are very great. The stock went through every resistance level today except its absolute high of 94½. The floating supply is at a minimum.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, March 14.—Today's market showed considerable hesitation for the first time in nearly a week. Stocks opened weaker with a marked decline in Radio and movements during the rest of the day were without definite trend. Better buying was noted in independent motors and rails.

Movements in the specialties included a revival of activity on a smaller scale in Radio and another run up in Linseed, apparently based on a small floating supply and urgent short covering.

After two record-breaking sessions today's volume of somewhat over 3,000,000 shares is a distinct letdown. It indicates the possibility that the market will taper down gradually instead of breaking as sharply as it has advanced.

Hot Irons Fail To Wrest

ROBBERS TORTURE AGED FARMER AND SISTER

Money Secret From Recluse

Huntingdon, Tenn., March 14.—(AP) Robbers using medieval methods of torture last night applied hot irons to the bare flesh of Bill Woodward, aged recluse and reputed miser, and his 81-year-old invalid sister in a vain effort to force them to reveal the hiding place of their life savings.

After their victims had withstood the torture with sealed lips for three hours and Woodward had lost consciousness from the pain, the intruders, numbering three and described as unmasked white men, wrecked their little farm home 18 miles from here in a ransacking search that netted them $700 found hidden in an old trunk.

Community legend had given Woodward a reputation for possessing a hoard of gold estimated at from $5,000 to $10,000.

The 78-yearold farmer described his experiences to the sheriff. He was able to move about today but his back and legs were horribly blistered. The sister, Melisse, who had been bed-ridden two years, was burned about the wrists until they bled.

"It was about dark," said the old men, "when three men came upon me. Two of them threw their guns on me, and the other tied my hands behind my back. They beat and kicked me, and marched me into the house.

"Then they threw me down on my face and stripped off my trousers. They heated irons and pokers in the fire until they were red hot and burned me because I wouldn't tell where the money was. My sister was in the room, looking on, but she couldn't move. They burned her, too, but she wouldn't talk. They found $700 in a trunk but kept on looking until they ransacked the place. They kept it up two hours—maybe more. Then they untied me and when I came to they were gone."

He believes the men were residents of the county, where his eccentricities and reputed "buried gold" are old stories. He tought he recognized them, but when the sheriff returned with two suspects it was concluded he could not be certain of the identification.

MRS. MARION SMITH DIES; FUNERAL TODAY

Mrs. Sarah Rawson Smith, 36, beloved Atlanta woman and wife of Marion Smith, prominent Atlanta attorney, died early Wednesday morning at a private hospital following a brief illness. Mrs. Smith, a daughter-in-law of former United States Senator Hoke Smith, had been in good health until a few days ago, when she suffered what physicians believed to be a minor ailment, but her condition gradually became worse until her death.

Funeral services for Mrs. Smith will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the residence, 80 Eleventh street, N. E. The Rev. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, will officiate and interment will be in West View cemetery.

Mrs. Smith was a native of Atlanta, a daughter of the late William Clark Rawson and Lucia Brock Rawson, and had spent all of her life in this city. After securing her early education in the public schools of the city she attended Washington Seminary and later attended Finch's school in New York. She married Marion Smith in 1913, and she and her husband were well known and popular in social circles of the city.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Smith is survived by four children, Marion Cobb Smith, Lucia Rawson Smith, Sarah Rawson Smith and Hoke Smith, II.; a sister, Mrs. Clarence Haverty, and two brothers, William Rawson, of Asheville, N. C., and Charles A. Rawson, of Atlanta.

Sugar.

New York, March 14.—Spot raw sugar was unchanged today, but offerings were more liberal. Spots were quoted at 4.52 delivered. Sales were 100,500 bags of Philippines at 4.52, and 7,000 bags St. Croix to local and outport refiners, for March and April arrival, at 4.52, and 14,000 bags of Philippines, to an operator, for May shipment at 4.55; also 42,500 bags of Cuban, March shipment, at 4.55.

Except for a little steadiness early, futures were generally lower under liquidation and selling by houses with Cuban and European connections, evidently influenced by increased offerings in the post market. The market opened a point higher to a point lower, and after a slight further upturn turned easier and closed with net losses of 1 to 3 points. Approximate sales 75,850 tons.

March closed 2.78; May, 2.72; July, 2.81; September, 2.89; December, 2.94; January, 2.85.

There was no change in refined prices which are listed at 5.70 to 5.75 for fine granulated, but an advance of 10 points was announced to take effect at the opening tomorrow. This led to a little increased buying and business at the old level was said to be more active.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

The Story of Fort Phil Kearney—Part I
A Conference With the Sioux.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

THE DISCOVERY OF GOLD IN WESTERN MONTANA LURED THOUSANDS OF SETTLERS TO THAT REGION. EMIGRANT TRAINS COMING FROM THE EAST WERE FORCED TO CROSS THE MOUNTAIN DISTRICT OF WYOMING TERRITORY, A LONG JOURNEY ATTENDED BY MANY PERILS.

AT FORT LARAMIE, WYOMING, IN THE SPRING OF 1866, UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS HELD A MEETING WITH A GROUP OF POWERFUL INDIAN CHIEFS FOR THE PURPOSE OF SECURING A ROUTE, THROUGH THE INDIAN COUNTRY TO MONTANA, OVER WHICH EMIGRANT TRAINS COULD PASS WITHOUT FEAR OF ATTACK.

MOST OF THE INDIAN CHIEFS WERE DISPOSED TO BE FRIENDLY, BUT RED CLOUD, WAR CHIEF OF THE OGALALLA SIOUX, WAS FIERCELY OPPOSED TO THE TREATY. WHEN HE LEARNED THAT TROOPS WERE ON THE WAY TO BUILD FORTS ALONG THE TRAIL, THE CHIEF WENT INTO A RAGE, AND LEFT THE MEETING, DECLARING HE WOULD GO ON THE WARPATH.

IN SPITE OF RED CLOUD'S ABRUPT DEPARTURE, THE OTHER CHIEFS REMAINED UNTIL THE END OF THE CONFERENCE. THEN THEY LEFT, LOADED WITH PRESENTS, BUT PROTESTING AGAINST THE ERECTION OF FORTS ON THEIR LANDS. THE COMMISSIONERS, HOWEVER, WERE SATISFIED WITH THE RESULT OF THEIR INTERVIEW AND NOTIFIED THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES THAT THE ROUTE WAS SECURE.

RADIO-ING The Air Waves.

BY WILL SMITH.

Today is an important date in the life of the federal radio commission. Unless the conference committee from the senate and house is able to report that their differences on the equal distribution amendment have been reconciled, and the senate and house are able to pass the compromise bill, the radio commission practically passes out of existence.

Then, should the congress pass a compromise bill by tonight, it will include an amendment to the radio act which will call for an immediate allocation ot each ot the five radio zones and equal number of stations, an equal amount of power and an equal number of wave channels.

Yes, the radio commission this morning is wondering. But so are the friends of the radio public. We await the decision.

* * * *

Study of the record of the house of representatives for Monday, the day the Davis amendment to the radio bill was passed by a huge majority, brings to light some interesting stands taken by members on the floor.

The only federal radio commissioner so far confirmed by the senate, Commissioner Sykes, of Mississippi, for the third zone (the one in which Atlanta is located), was quoted in a letter read by Representative Clancy (Mich.) as stating that Senator Keller (Tenn.) had stated that the south had not been discriminated against in the allocation of power, licenses and wave lengths. Seems rather absurd, doesn't it? Mr. Clancy praised the radio commission and argued that the equal distribution clause threatened the life of the radio industry. We will see?

The votes on the radio bill, which also means on the clause, were: 168 to 40 (on the overriding of the speaker), 174 to 83 (to amend the clause to include therein the District of Columbia and territories and possessions, but not changing it otherwise) and 236 to 133 on the bill itself. Never was the bill or clause in danger of defeat.

Representative Davis (Tenn.), author of the clause, argued that New York city alone has more than twice the power of the other four zones combined.

Representative Boylan (N. Y.) denied that New York city was getting more than a fair share of the national quota of wave lengths and power distribution.

Representative LaGuardia (N. Y.) stood unequivocally for the equal distribution clause. "This is a national question," he said, "and there should be no vested rights to the air. I am in favor of this amendment."

The house bill provides that licenses or renewal of licenses shall not be granted to broadcasting stations for a period greater than three months. This means that the commission CAN take stations from the air if it should so elect "for cause." Will it do so?

* * * *

The Dial Twister stated several days ago that we feared this amendment. Granted that it should be a great aid to the southern states, we hesitate to predict that this amendment will actually be used by the federal radio commission as congress is intending it should. Granted that it should clear the air of interference, will the federal radio commission enforce its authority?

We sincerely hope so. We have sincere doubts, however. Therein do we fear that this amendment may prove another stumbling block to reception such as the radio public is entitled to have. We do not want to borrow trouble, however, and as we believe the senate will pass the radio bill, we feel that here at last the radio public will have an instrument which should bring about a great improvement in the radio broadcasting situation.

Curtis D. Wilbur, secretary of the navy, wil deliver an address on "Our Navy Requirements" during a program by the United States marine band at 6 o'clock this evening over the blue chain. The secretary's address is expected to begin about 6:30 o'clock. Secretary Wilbur will speak from the new Washington NBC studios while the marine band will be heard from their barracks in Washington. Stations broadcasting will be WJZ, WREN, WOW and WRC.

* * * *

The Clicquot Eskimos will come for their weekly visitation at 8 o'clock tonight over WGY, WGN and many others of the red network. The novelty of the programs they have been offering has made a wide appeal. Listening in on the Eskimos has come to mean listening in on one of the week's best radio hours.

* * * *

The Hoover Sentinels will arrive at our house at 7:30 o'clock. We like the honeymooners and the songs they bring. This half hour of harmony is getting better and better. Try it over the local station.

* * * *

Should you like an artist at the piano, tune in on KDKA at 7:30 o'clock for the Ampico program, with J. Milton DeCamp as guest artist.

* * * *

Then, "Trade" and "Mark" will be on at KDKA at 9 o'clock. Have you heard them?

Turning from an interview in which he blamed parents for the alleged wildness of the younger set, and denounced the "pocket flask" practice, the Rt. Rev. Irving Peake Johnson, of Denver, Episcopal bishop of the diocese of Colorado, Wednesday tried out his game on the East Lake golf links and recommended wholesome sports as an aid in the fight against the temptations that beset the youth of today.

Bishop Johnson is the speaker at the noon-day services being held at the First Baptist church at 12:15 o'clock each day this week, and when he ends his sermon Friday the six weeks' campaign now being conducted under sponsorship of the Atlanta Christian council and the Evangelical Ministers' association will have reached the half way mark.

Bishop J. H. Mikell, of the diocese of Atlanta, presided at the services Wednesday, and Q. L. Fry, musical director of the Woodward Avenue Baptist church, led the music, while Miss Helen Schaid presided at the piano.

Bishop Johnson declared Wednesday that parents were more to blame than their children for the evils now charged to the younger generations and especially deplored the prevalence of the "pocket flask" today.

"The cure for the social ills of the young people is to be found in the proper atmosphere in the home and in the right kind of training in schools, home and church. Next to that I would stress the value of wholesome sports. I believe clean recreation is as essential for older people as for the younger set."

He will speak at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon and again Friday. The subject today will be "The Value of Institutions" and Friday it will be "The Fruits of the Spirit."

Dr. Plato Durham, of the theological faculty of Emory university, will preside at the service today, and Dr. W. L. Duren, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist church, will preside at the service Friday.
